

THE BLAIRMORE ENTERPRISE

VOL. XVII, NO. 13.

THE BLAIRMORE ENTERPRISE, THURSDAY, MARCH 31, 1927.

UNITED CHURCH TENNIS CLUB

The annual meeting of the Blairmore United Church Tennis Club will be held in the club room on Friday, April 1st, at 7 o'clock—John Rae, secretary.

Harry Meade, proprietor of the Bellevue Bakery, returned last week from an extended holiday trip.

At a meeting of the congregation of the United Church on Sunday night, a resolution was unanimously passed, asking the Settlement Board of the church to replace Rev. Mr. Young in Blairmore. Mr. Young's resignation was submitted to the board a couple of weeks ago, but the majority of the congregation wish Mr. Young to remain here.

PRESENTATION MADE TO JUNIOR HOCKEY CHAMPIONS

An event of very great interest took place at the Tea Kettle Inn on Friday night last, when the boys composing the Blairmore Tuxis Junior Hockey team, ten in number, were presented with beautifully engraved gold watches on behalf of the citizens of Blairmore, in recognition of their winning the Alberta junior hockey championship.

A splendid banquet was served at 7 p.m. about seventy friends and representative citizens availing of this opportunity of meeting and congratulating the boys upon their success.

Following the banquet, the chair of the evening was taken by Mayor J. H. Farmer, when the following toast list was gone through:

Chairman's Address.

"King and Country."

"Tuxis Hockey Club" proposer, Mr. D. G. Mackenzie; response, W. W. Scott.

"Blairmore Arena, Limited," proposer, Idris Evans; response, Robert Gray.

"Alberta A.H.A.," proposer, Ed. McDonald; response, W. H. Chappell, Jr.

"The Referee," proposer, Hugh Masson; response, M. G. Rhynas.

"The Trainer," proposer, W. Goddard; response, Jack McAndrew.

At this juncture, each member of the team responded to the call and was presented by the chairman with a watch. On behalf of the team, Rev. Mr. Young thanked the citizens in general and those present for the beautiful and valued souvenirs.

Community singing followed and the programme ended with the singing of "God Save The King."

DEATH OF MRS. E. EACOTT

The death of Mrs. Edward Eacott occurred at Coleman on Monday of this week. Mrs. Eacott had been ailing for years and the end was not unexpected. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. M. J. Jenkins, of Wayne, Alberta, and Mrs. Elsieger, of California; and a son, Chellis, of Coleman. Mr. Eacott predeceased her some eight years ago.

Funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon and was largely attended, including members of the Rebekah and Pythian Sisters Lodges, with which she was connected.

SERVICES AT ST. LUKE'S CHURCH, BLAIRMORE

Sunday, April 3.—Evening at 7 p.m.

Thursday, April 7.—Holy Communion at 10.30 a.m.

Sunday, April 10.—Matins at 11 a.m.

Thursday, April 14.—Holy Communion at 10.30 a.m.

Good Friday, April 15.—Evening at 7 p.m.

Sunday, Easter Day.—Matins and Holy Communion at 11 a.m.

Sunday, April 24.—Holy Communion at 11 a.m.

Services after April are liable to change.—A. D. CURRIE, Vicar.

In a Calgary court, Judge Macdonald has given judgment for $297.85 and costs in favor of Mike Moxin, of High River, against Calvin W. Rowley, of Calgary, in an action for damages, resulting from a motor car collision, which took place on October 19, 1926, about six miles north of High River. Mr. Moxin was traveling from High River to Calgary, while Mr. Rowley was traveling in the opposite direction, when their cars collided. The learned judge found that the defendant was liable because, at the point at which the impact took place, the defendant's car was more than two feet to the east of the centre line of the road, and that the plaintiff had no reason to believe that the established rule of the road would not be observed by the defendant.

DEATH OF MRS. JACK EDDY

The death of Mrs. J. W. Eddy occurred at the St. Vincent's hospital, Pincher Creek, at 10.45 p.m. on Wednesday, March 23rd.

Mrs. Eddy had been in her usual good health until last fall, when on a return trip from the Pass, she caught a cold which settled in her back, causing a kidney disorder. Eventually Mrs. Eddy came to the hospital and was apparently making favorable progress and was planning to return home, when on the day previous to her going, she was stricken with a paralytic stroke. This occurred about two months ago and everything possible had been done, but to no avail. Mrs. Eddy was formerly Miss Cora Wyatt, of Balmore, Md., was a nurse highly esteemed in her profession. Following her marriage to Mr. Eddy in September, 1922, she has resided in Beaver Mines, where she continually ministered unto those needing care in the community. Besides Mr. Eddy and his family of his former marriage, she leaves her little son, four years old. Also a sister, Mrs. J. R. Van Arman, of Washington, D.C., and two brothers, Frank and R. Wyatt, of Baltimore.

Funeral took place at Pincher Creek on Sunday afternoon last and was largely attended.

BELLEVUE TENNIS ENTHUSIASTS TO MEET MONDAY NIGHT

A meeting, with a view to organize a tennis club, was held on Tuesday evening in the Bellevue school. A grounds committee and a membership committee were chosen, but definite organization and election of officers were postponed until a further meeting, to be held in the school on Monday evening next at 8 o'clock.

ALBERTA'S SCHOOL ENROLMENT

There was a total enrolment of 150,556 pupils in Alberta public and high schools during 1926, an increase over 1925 of 2730. Attendance at rural schools shows improvement. The demand for secondary education is on the increase and the percentage of pupils continuing through the high schools is higher than formerly.

Thirteen hundred students attended the University of Alberta last year, of which 897 were men and 405 were women.

SPRING SHOES

SEE THE NICE SMART STYLES

We have them

SUITS

If you are needing a nice Stylish Suit—Something good in Quality and Well Made—We can supply you. Let us show you the range

John A. Kerr

MEN'S FURNISHINGS

Cherry Bark Cough Syrup

Few that Stubborn Cough and Sore Throat it has no equal. Its action is to Soothe Local Irritation of the Bronchial and Mucous Membrane, Stimulate Expectoration and Loosen the Cough and Enable the Tissues to Reject Germs and to Stimulate Organs of Elimination, thus Aiding to Rid the Body of Influence Causing Fever.

Priced 35c, 60c and $1.00

SEE OUR WINDOW FOR BOOK SPECIALS
Regular $2.00 Books for 75c

THE BLAIRMORE PHARMACY

BLAIRMORE —GORDON STEEVES, Prop.— ALBERTA

WE ARE STILL OFFERING

Good Values

in

SHOES

All lines—Men's, Women's and Children's BIG REDUCTION IN PRICES

New Lines coming in BLAIRMORE TRADING CO.

F. S. Kafoury, Prop.

Blairmore

Alberta

OUR BIRTHDAY

This Week-end Marks the Sixth Anniversary of Our Business in Blairmore. We wish to take this opportunity of expressing to our Many Customers our appreciation of their patronage during those years and hope that by selling only Quality Food Stuff at Reasonable Prices, and Giving the Best of Service, that we will continue to enjoy your good will in the future. To help celebrate this occasion we have selected the Following Special Values for this Week-end. The Prices mean a Saving to you

King Oscar
Sardines
per tin 15c

Ogilvie's
ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR
Canada's Best Flour
98-lb Sack, $4.95

Wool
Soap Flakes
3 pkgs for 25c

BEACH-EAKIN'S PURE JAMS

Pure Strawberry 4-lb Tin 65c	Pure Raspberry 4-lb Tin 65c	Pure Peach 4-lb Tin 65c	Pure Loganberry 4-lb Tin 65c	Pure Blackberry 4-lb Tin 65c	Pure Gooseberry 4-lb Tin 65c
------------------------------	-----------------------------	-------------------------	------------------------------	------------------------------	------------------------------

ORANGES
2 Dozen for 45c
Other sizes
40c, 50c, 60c Doz

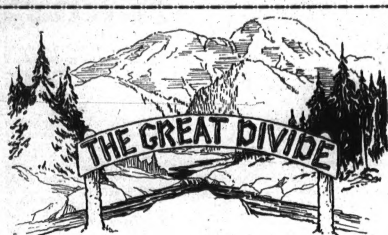

Royal Crown White Naptha Soap
21 Bars Case of 100 Bars for $4.50
for $4.50
An Excellent Laundry Soap

CHOCOLATES
Ganong's 'Gordon's' hand dipped chocolates, hard or soft centres.
Per lb 45c

Fancy Sliced Peaches, all Gold Brand, 2-lb tins, per tin 25c
Florida Grape Fruit, each 10c & 12½c

Bananas : Rhubarb : Head Lettuce : Tomatoes : Cauliflower : Celery : etc.

SCOTT'S GROCERY

TWO streams start from the same source, but find their outlet a thousand miles apart.

Yet they may flow into the troubled ocean of debt, or into the placid waters of independence.

Your Bank Book will decide.

The Royal Bank of Canada

Blairmore Branch
Branches: Bellevue and Crest
G. Wilson, Manager
J. J. Ramsey, Manager

Good Merchandise at Good Prices

Silver Bar Peaches, 2-lb tins	25c
Canned Pineapple, 3 tins	50c
Good Bulk Tea, per lb	55c
Pure Dutch Cocoa, 1-lb pkts	25c
Quaker Corn Flakes, 8 pkts	35c
Matches, 3 boxes to pkt	30c
Libby's Pork and Beans, 3 tins	35c
Blue Ribbon Cooking Figs, 3-lb pkts	45c
Pitted Dates, per pkt	25c
Golden Dates, 3-lb pkts	55c
Malkin's Black Currant Jelly, tin	90c
Malkin's Red Currant Jelly, tin	85c
Malkin's Bramble Jelly, tin	85c
Red Plum Jam, 4-lb tin	55c
Orange Marmalade, 4-lb tin	60c
Royal Crown Soap, 12 bars	55c
Robin Hood China Oats, 2 pkts	85c
Oranges, 3 dozen for 85c and 3 dozen for	$1.00
Lemons, per dozen	40c
Apples, Wagners, in crates	$1.75
Delicious and Winesaps, fancy wrapped Okanagan, per case	$3.00
Alberta Potatoes, 100 lbs	$2.00
B.C. Potatoes, 100 lbs	$2.50
Five Roses Flour, 98-lb sack	$5.00
Sugar, 20-lb sack	$1.70
Fresh Eggs, per dozen	30c

Why do 90% of the Thrifty Housewives use P. & G. White Paptha Soap
(1) 100% Efficient, (2) Adaptable to any water, (3) It must be good—because it is a Proctor & Gamble product and it is the world's largest selling Laundry Soap—Our Special 10 Bars 50c, 20 Bars 99c

DRY GOODS DEPT.

SPECIAL SHOWING

A representative of the R. H. Williams Co. is at our store today and Friday, with a line of Ladies' Coats, Dresses, etc. On Saturday, April 2nd, Mr. Day, representing Fashion Craft Brand of Clothes Made-to-Measure, will be at our store.

Men's Hats and Caps

Our assortment is very fine and the prices are right

Clothing

We have what you require for the little man of two years to the Big Brother, and Dad

Shoes

Do not fail to see our values and styles. We can surely please you

Rubbers

We would call your attention to the fact that we have these for the whole family, and every pair guaranteed

F. M. THOMPSON Co.

Main Store Phone 25 —BLAIRMORE— Greenhill Store Phone 28

TEA "is good tea"

RED ROSE ORANGE PÉKOE is the "best tea you can buy"—picked when only three days old—juicy, flavor-filled leaves. Now packed in Aluminum.

Co-Operation

Since the year 1901, when a small group of farmers under the leadership of W. R. Motherwell, now Dominion Minister of Agriculture, met in the town of Indian Head and organized the Territorial Grain Growers' Association, the plan of applying the principles of co-operation to the solution of problems peculiar to the West has found increasing favor with both people and governments until today it has come to be recognized as the most effective means of righting many wrongs and removing grievances from which the great army of producers suffer.

At the beginning of the present century people were inclined to look to Government Ownership as the only way out of the economic difficulties with which they were confronted. The most serious problems were in relation to the marketing of grain, and the first great achievement of the Territorial Grain Growers' Association was securing the passage of the Canada Grain Act, with its loading platform feature, which had the effect of breaking the old elevator monopoly.

That in itself was not sufficient, and an agitation was begun for Government owned and operated grain elevators. This was given a trial in Manitoba, but was rejected in Saskatchewan in favor of a system of co-operative elevators, owned and operated by the farmers themselves through a joint stock company backed with financial guarantees by the Government. The Government owned system in Manitoba was not a success, and the elevators there were soon leased to a farmers' organization. The Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Co. was a huge success and in a comparatively few years became the greatest grain handling concern in the world.

From that time onward co-operation became a word to conjure with throughout Western Canada. Co-operative creameries, co-operative stockyards, co-operative hall insurance, co-operative wool growers' associations, quickly followed. The Grain Growers' Association was duplicated in Manitoba and spread to Ontario. In Saskatchewan, the Territorial Grain Growers' Association was duplicated in the Canadian Council of Agriculture. Co-operation brought unity and in unity the producers of the West found strength.

There yet remained one great weakness in the economic condition of the West. The increasingly large grain crops of the country were dumped on the market at one time, glutting the market and breaking prices below a profitable level to the producer. The seemingly impossible task of uniting the farmers in one great co-operative enterprise to handle all their wheat and to market it in an orderly and scientific manner was undertaken through the organization of Wheat Pools. It succeeded, and the Provincial Pools organized one central selling agency. The result is common knowledge today, and the wheat pools have been followed by Coarse Grain pools, Egg and Poultry pools, Livestock pools, Dairy pools.

Truly enormous as have been the material gains to the producers of the West through this general acceptance of the principles of co-operation, resulting, as it has, in more orderly marketing, more orderly financing, in greater adjustment all round, it is not altogether wide of the mark to say that even more significant and permanent effects have resulted.

The underlying principle of co-operation is that the strong shall help the weak, and that in the union of all still greater strength will be found. No member of a wheat pool, however large his resources, regardless of the size of his crop, irrespective of his financial strength, will realize the top price for his grain, and, equally so, no member however poor he may be, or "small" the quantity of his crop to market, will be forced to accept the lowest price. Strong and weak, rich or poor in resources, each and every member will receive the average price. In other words, some make sacrifice for the good of the many. But, in the long run, even those who seemingly do sacrifice something are the gainers because through control of the aggregate large volume of the many small producers the pool brings strength and profit to all.

Whether it is fully realized or not by even the most enthusiastic pool advocate, the fact is that in the development of this spirit of co-operation, and in the application of co-operative principles to the everyday business of the farm, a great work of good citizenship is being performed, an educational movement of the highest order.

Tens of thousands of men and women banded together to achieve purely material benefits find it necessary to sink all differences of race, of creed, of political faith, and to disregard varying conditions in life. They find compromises necessary; that there must be a spirit of give and take. They make the happy discovery of each other's good qualities. Living in an atmosphere of co-operation, they develop a high sense of national citizenship. It begins to color their thought and permeate their activities. Inevitably it must displace itself in municipal and school district administration. It influences the conduct of their domestic life, becoming a factor affecting all community life and activities. In a word, it reflects itself in worthwhile citizenship.

And the youth of today is being brought up in this atmosphere of co-operation. It is influencing the whole thought and outlook of the boys and girls of this generation, broadening their sympathies, teaching them to work together for the common good instead of at cross purposes, developing a new sense and a finer ideal of citizenship.

May Prolong Life Span

Pennsylvania Doctor Has Announced Discovery of Valuable Serum The span of human life may be prolonged 25 years or more by a new mercury compound called Metaphen, according to Dr. George Benjamin Ratlsch, professor of chemotherapy at the University of Pennsylvania graduate school of medicine, discovered of the serum. In describing the new compound, Dr. Ratlsch said it was the strongest antiseptic and the most powerful organic compound in chemistry. He said he hoped to develop metaphen as a possible cure for tuberculosis, influenza and septicaemia. A life span of one hundred and twenty-five years and old age of a few months instead of many years are among the future possibilities discussed by Dr. Sege Voronoff, the eminent specialist in gland operations, before an assemblage of foreign newspaper correspondents at Paris.

It has been established, said Voronoff, that some men had lived 125 years. "Therefore," he added, "I and others have the right to live that long."

There is nothing repulsive in Miller's Worm Powders, and they are as pleasant to take as sugar, so that a few children will refuse them. In some cases they cause vomiting or constipation, but this is only a manifestation of their cleansing power, no inconstancy, and they are safe. They can be thoroughly depended upon to clear worms from the system.

"Of all the Gaults!" exclaimed Julius Caesar, as he stood on the mountain top and scanned the horizon.

Going fishing—take Minard's Liniment.

Babies Cry For "Castoria"

Prepared Especially for Infants and Children of All Ages

Mother! Fletcher's Castoria has been in use for over 30 years as a pleasant, harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paracetamol, Teething Drops and Boiling Syrup. Contains no narcotics. Proven directions are on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

The genuine bears signature of

W. N. P. 1974

Will Not Tour Dominion

Prince intends going direct to Ranch From Ottawa That the Prince of Wales would not make a general tour of the country on his next visit to Canada, but proceed direct to Ottawa and thence to a big ranch in Alberta, was the statement made by Prof. W. Carleton, manager of the prince's ranch, who arrived at St. John on the steamship Montclair. While nothing definitely had been settled, the Prince, accompanied by Premier Stanley Baldwin would probably arrive in Canada next August, the professor said.

Professor Carleton had been on a regular visit to England to confer with the Prince on matters pertaining to the ranch.

The advisability of importing additional stock for the ranch was discussed but nothing decided as it was impossible to export cattle from England at the present time owing to the foot and mouth disease there.

First News in Fifteen Years

Slav Islanders Have Just Heard of

News of the overthrow of the Czar and the establishment of a Soviet government in Russia has just reached a large island in the Bering Strait between Alaska and Alaska, was the arrival of the first ship in fifteen years. The Slav and Eskimo residents of the island were much astonished to learn that Russia is no longer a monarchy.

Great Canadian Remedy Helped Him Like Magic

Saskatchewan Man Used Dodd's Kidney Pills

Mr. A. M. Pacholko Who Suffered From Backache Tells of Relief He Found and Found. Finally I tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. They have been relieving kidney troubles all over this vast Dominion for over thirty-five years. They relieve only kidney trouble and those diseases that spring from disordered kidneys. That's why they are so popular today. Read what Mr. A. M. Pacholko says about them. "I have suffered from backache for a long time and have tried different things, plasters, etc., and found no benefit. Finally I tried Dodd's Kidney Pills which helped me like magic. I also found them good for my feet. Dodd's Kidney Pills have become a family remedy because people have tried them and found them good. They help Rheumatism, Lumbago, Lame Back, Heart Disease and Urinary troubles, because all of these are other kidney diseases, or are caused by the kidneys failing to do their work."

Canada's Timberland

Of the total area of Canada, 1,200,000 square miles (approximately one-quarter of the whole) is forest land. More than half of this carries timber of merchantable size (6 inches in diameter) at the present time, and only about one-quarter carries saw material (10 inches in diameter).

To Asthma Sufferers, Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy, which is a helping hand to a sinking swimmer, it gives new life and hope—something he has come to believe impossible. Its benefit is too evident to be questioned—it is his own best advertisement. If you suffer from asthma get this time-tested remedy and find help like thousands of others.

Within fourteen miles of London the Kentish village of Downo has neither gas nor electricity, no sewer, no doctor, no movie, no bus or street car.

A Blessing to People of Advanced Years

Gin Pills relieve sufferers from kidney and bladder trouble

"I wonder if you really know what a blessing Gin Pills are to people of advanced years. "I am 72 years of age, and suffer for a considerable time with kidney and bladder trouble. My rest was broken through having to get up in the night three and four times. Later I suffered with pains in the bladder, and my son, who had used Gin Pills, pointing to the back and laminae, bought me a box. Before I had finished it I was relieved of the pains in my bladder and had to get up less frequently. At my age I can scarcely expect to be permanently free from troubles of this kind, but if Gin Pills will give others the relief they have given me, they will be a blessing indeed. (Name on request.)"

Prompt and lasting relief has been found in Gin Pills by thousands of people of advanced years who have had kidney or bladder trouble. If even slightly troubled in this way, get a box today at your drugist's—Dr. C. E. National Drug & Chemical Company of Canada, Limited, Toronto, Canada.

Shampoo with Baby's Own Soap
Best for You and Baby too

Use it Wherever the Recipe
Borden's ST. CHARLES
CONDENSED MILK
Calls for Milk

Growth of Power Development

Quarter of Million Horse-Power Being Developed on Winnipeg River

By the close of the present year plants with a capacity of over a quarter of a million horse-power of hydro electric energy will be installed on the Winnipeg River, Manitoba, a remarkable growth in twenty years. When the river is fully developed about three times this amount of power will be available, so that the city of Winnipeg and district can hope to enjoy the advantages of low cost power for some time to come before the market having absorbed all the power available on his river will have to seek further afield to increase its energy supply.

The salient features of the last three years' progress are the expansion of the application of Winnipeg River power from an almost purely urban market to large individual out-of-town industries, the cooperation of otherwise competing interests, and finally the remarkable growth of the power market in the rural districts.

A GREAT PUZZLE TO CAREFUL PARENTS

One of the greatest puzzles to the careful parent is to know just what medicine to give the little one. When the child falls ill with griping pains; is seized with cold or fever, refuses food or vomits while he lies in bed when he cries a great deal and cannot get the sleep so necessary to the growing child, the parent is in a quandary. What is to be done on such occasions? An often as not there is not a suitable medicine in the house. The puzzle is what to give him to set him right quickly.

It is to meet such emergencies that Baby's Own Tablets were designed. These pleasant little Tablets quickly reduce fever, break up colds, relieve constipation and indigestion and allay teething pains. They quiet the nervous and promote rest and health-restoring sleep. They are guaranteed absolutely harmless and safe for the youngest and most delicate baby.

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Alberta is the Corn Belt

The Province of Alberta, is definitely in the corn belt of North America, says a report from the Provincial Government. Although a few years ago it was producing very little corn, this has now come to be a notable item in the annual agricultural production. Last year more than $1,000,000 worth was produced, mainly in the southern part; and the corn exhibits were very favorably commented on at various seed grain fairs.

Indians Need No Boundaries

The aborigines of the continent know no boundary lines and may pass to and from the United States without let or hindrance. Federal Judge Dickinson has ruled at Philadelphia. The ruling was given in the test case of Paul Diabo of the Caughnawaga reservation of Montreal. Diabo was deported to Canada last March on a charge of illegal entry into the United States.

Only one stone is harder than the transparent white diamond, according to "Liberty." It is the black diamond which is so hard that it cannot be polished.

Minard's Liniment soothes tired feet.

Boy Immigration Scheme

Federal Government Co-Operating With the Provinces by Lending Financial Assistance

Reports reaching the Immigration Department from Manitoba indicate that Premier Bracken is favorably impressed with the boy immigration scheme, and will join up, probably, with the Federal Department. The scheme is that the Federal Department brings out the boys and makes a grant of $90 per head to sustain them during an instruction period when they are on the farm. The farm is to be provided by the Provincial Government. Ontario and the Maritime Provinces have already come into the scheme and more than 1,000 boys will be brought out from England this year. The Manitoba Government, it is learned, already possesses a large farm which could be used for this scheme. It is located in the Dirlitz district.

Alberta Hen Wins Out

Performs Best Laying Record at Contest Held Down in Georgia

Amongst a thousand competitors from many sections of the United States, a hen owned by A. M. Dykes, of the Winter Egg Poultry Farm, Lethbridge, secured the best laying record of the International Egg Laying Contest, recently conducted by the State College of Agriculture at Athens, Georgia.

Dykes' hen was declared the best individual egg layer and accordingly won the silver cup put up for competition by the college. His hen cured 162 points out of a possible 120.

HAD BAD SPELLS WITH HER HEART

Mrs. B. G. Hall, Bolton Centre, Que., writes:—"Some time ago I had spells with my heart which I believe was caused by nervousness. I tried everything I could think of, but could get no relief until one of my friends persuaded me to get a box of

MILBURN'S HEART NERVE PILLS
After I had taken a few boxes I got wonderful relief. I now weigh one hundred and thirty-five pounds where, before, I never went over ninety."

Price $3. a box at all druggists or dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

The Gloomy Bolshevik

Visitors Are Struck by Depression and Dejection of People in Russia

The Bolshevik ruffian is a gloomy, dismal, morose creature, and recent visitors to Sovietland are struck with the utter depression and dejection of the hapless people who are doomed to exist there because for them there is no escape. Russia is in tragic fact an even more wretched place today than it was represented in the Russia novels of the Czarist regime, where everyone is depicted as plunged in mooping melancholy.

Canada's National Parks

Canada has now 10,000 square miles of the most magnificent territory in the Dominion set apart as national recreation areas. Few countries in the world have made such generous provision for outdoor recreation and pleasure.

Let us pause for a moment to shed a tear over the sad fate of the misguided immigrant who gave his recent box of pearl taploca for her birthday.

BAYER
Genuine Aspirin

Proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for

Colds Headache Neuritis Lumbago
Pain Neuralgia Toothache Rheumatism

DOES NOT AFFECT THE HEART

Safe Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proven directions. Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets. Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists. A word of warning: Beware of cheap imitations. Aspirin is the trade mark registered in Canada of Bayer Manufacturing Company of Germany. Bayer Company will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross."

SMP QUALITY

What's in a Name?

Would you buy canned goods that bore no label? Would you buy an automobile of unknown make, no matter how cheap? Nobody would be so foolish. You got to trust a name or a label just as you got to trust a man, through satisfactory and honest dealings. That is why kitchen and household utensils bearing the SMP label are bought without question by millions of Canadians. The shield-shaped green and red SMP trademark is a guarantee of full value and best quality. The firm behind SMP goods is

THE SHEET METAL PRODUCTS CO. OF CANADA, MONTREAL TORONTO WINNIPEG EDMONTON VANCOUVER CALGARY

SMP Goods are Sold in the Best Stores EVERYWHERE

Reindeer for the North

May Move Reindeer From Alaska to Canada for Food Supply for Natives

The Porland brothers of Denmark are now in the extreme north of Canada where they are making an investigation into the possibility of moving reindeer from Alaska into Canadian territories for the purpose of maintaining the food supply of the natives, according to a wireless message received by the Northwest Territories Branch. The two brothers went into the north country last June and will not come out until the spring of 1925, when they will make their report to the Dominion Government on all phases of the reindeer question.

Worms in children, if they are not attended to, cause convulsions, and often death. Mother Graves' Worm Expeller will protect the children from these distressing afflictions. Politeness is the zero mark of love's thermometer. Envy provides the mud that fair use throws at success.

COLIC!
Minard's in molasses gives quick relief. Mix well and use as a dressing.
MINARD'S LINIMENT
"KING OF PAIN"

Alberta's Industries

Returns filed by the Alberta Bureau of Labor show the industrial payroll of the province in 1924 at $24,951,086 of which the wage-earners' share was $20,292,724.

TRAGIC SLAYING OF FOREIGNERS AT NANKING

London.—The British capital was shocked by news of the slaying of foreigners at Nanking, recalling the tragic days of the Boxer uprising. Only the briefest accounts have been received in official quarters and no definite information had been received as to the number of the foreigners killed or wounded. Government spokesmen declare the guilty Chinese will be held responsible for the attack. Premier Baldwin said the British were standing in contact with the central Cantonese Government at Hankow.

The rapidly developing events will largely be left in the hands of the British representatives on the spot and any action they deem necessary to protect life will be backed to the hilt. Secretary of War Worthington Evans told the House of Commons that another batch of British troops was en route to Shanghai from Hong Kong but that no further changes in the defence force were planned at present. Additional British destroyers were rushed to Nanking from Shanghai.

Because of the great distance involved, officials say it would be useless to consider reinforcements from Great Britain to meet the existing crisis.

The government is being congratulated from China as well as here for its foresight in sending a defence force to the East. Otherwise, it is said, Shanghai would have been placed at the mercy of the victorious Cantonese, particularly their guerrilla sympathisers.

No statement concerning the Nanking slayings was made in the Commons by Foreign Secretary Chamberlain, who simply recognised the demands of the Shanghai consular general on the Nationalist commanders to control the irregulars.

Washington.—The Chinese situation flamed to a sudden crisis filled with gravest possibilities in the road of British and United States naval guns at Nanking.

An unknown number of British and American lives have been taken by a mob of undisciplined Nationalist soldiers. Gunshots and rifle fire blasted the way to safety for the survivors.

Secretary of War Willbur declared after conference with Secretary of State Kellogg, that Admiral Williams, the United States naval commander in China, had unlimited authority to employ his forces as he deemed necessary to protect American lives.

"He has the full support of the Government," the naval secretary said.

Grants To Universities May Be D'scontinued

Ontario Government Cannot Undertake To Maintain Three Says Premier

Toronto.—This will be probably the last year in which the government of Ontario will advance large grants to Queen's University, Kingston, and the Western University, London, according to Premier Howard Ferguson, speaking in the Ontario legislature as minister of education.

The time has arrived, said the premier, when a halt would have to be called to the grants to these institutions. They must now expect the province could further undertake to maintain three universities, and they must look to private sources for increased assistance.

C.N.R. Favorable Showing

Increase for 1926 of Net Earnings of Over 42 Per Cent

Ottawa.—Net earnings in 1926 of $48,225,029—an increase of $14,781,731 or 42 per cent, as compared with the preceding year—are shown in the annual report of the Canadian National system, tabled in the House of Commons by Hon. Charles Dunning, minister of railways and canals. The gross earnings of the system, including the lines of the Central Vermont, totalled $75,576,310, an increase of $21,561,536 over 1925, while total operating expenses increased only $7,679,804.

To Visit Canada

London.—According to The Times, Lt. Col. L. C. Amery, secretary of State for Dominion Affairs, will start an extensive tour of the dominions in the autumn. The paper states he will be away for a year and visit Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa. Neither his itinerary nor the order in which the dominions will be visited have yet been decided.

W. N. U. 1674

Paris Approves Idea Of Canadian Minister

But Diplomatically Appointment Is Not Considered Worth While

Paris.—The idea of a Canadian minister to France is receiving the strongest support in Paris, especially from French-Canadian trade interests, but as yet nothing is known here officially concerning the project.

It is pointed out that so far as trade between the two countries is concerned, the appointment might be opportune, but that diplomatically it hardly seems worth while.

It is believed here that Ottawa is watching the effect of Hon. Vincent Massey's appointment as Canadian ambassador to Washington and also the cost thereof, and that at the present there is little likelihood of the new policy being likened to other countries.

Many Japs Entered Canada Last Year

Majority Were Women and Children Says Minister of Immigration

Ottawa.—Four hundred and forty-three Japanese and fifty-eight Chinese entered Canada during the year 1926, according to Hon. Robert Forke, Minister of Immigration, who replied in the House to a question from A. W. Neil, Independent, Alexandria, N.B. Mr. Forke stated, of the Chinese 32 had already passed out of Canada and that no Chinese immigrants were among the number admitted.

With regard to entrance of Japanese, Mr. Forke stated that they were divided as follows: 119 males, 216 females, and 108 children under 18. There were 108 farmers and farm laborers in the number and 154 general or unskilled laborers.

Italian Aviator May Come to Canada

De Pinedo May Include Dominion in His North American Flight

Montreal.—Possibility of an extension of many thousands of miles of the North American continent part of the flight of the Italian aviator, Commander de Pinedo, is held out in advice received here from Italy. Under the new plan, if adopted, the aviator, instead of flying direct from New Orleans to Chicago and New York, would go to San Francisco, San Diego and San Francisco, Seattle, Chicago, the province of Quebec in Canada and New York.

Commander de Pinedo is now on the Brazil, part of his European Western Hemisphere flight and no date is set for his arrival in Canada.

Maritimes Are Pleased

Lowering of Transportation Costs Will Prove Great Benefit

Ottawa.—The implementing of the Duncan report with regard to transportation costs and facilities will undoubtedly be a long step toward restoring a proper basis of transportation costs and services in the Maritimes," says a statement issued here by F. C. Cornell, who presented the case for the Maritime Government with regard to freight rates before the Duncan commission.

Mr. Cornell estimated that $5,000,000 would be a conservative estimate of the amount involved in the rate reductions.

No Aid For Victims of Spanish Bank

Ottawa.—By a vote of 105 to 56, the House of Commons rejected a motion by Hon. J. W. Edwards (Conservative, Frontenac-Aldenburg) that the Government should grant the same measure of relief to those who suffered loss through the failure of the Farmers' Bank as has been granted to those who lost through the failure of the Home Bank.

A Picturesque Farewell

Wellington, N.Z.—A quaint farewell message was sent by the Maori tribes to the Duke and Duchess of York who sailed for Australia after visiting New Zealand. The message reads: "Farewell to you, the snow white crane which flies but once in a life time, and to you, the beautiful high born lady, good luck."

Air Mail For Canada

Ottawa.—The Government intends to establish an air mail service and to extend this to Eastern and Western Canada as conditions warrant, Hon. Fernand Robitaille, Secretary of State, said in reply to a question in the House of Commons. He gave no details as to when a start would be made to establish this service.

Congratulations From Reds

Warsaw.—The communist faction of the Polish Diet sent a message of congratulation to Shanghai on its "de-very from imperialist aggression."

To Represent Consumers

Counsel to Look After Interests of Consumers Before Tariff Advisory Board

Ottawa.—A meeting of members of the House of Commons took the first step today in providing for a committee to represent consumers before the tariff advisory board when applications for increased customs tariff are heard.

During the past year counsel nominally representing consumers before the tariff advisory board, appeared on behalf of the consumers, the expense being defrayed by Mr. Spence, assisted by certain other members. However, the meeting was for the purpose of having a committee of members of the House look after it in the future. An executive was appointed but no statement was issued until the question could be more thoroughly canvassed, when another meeting will be called. There was a fairly large attendance of members not only from the West but from Ontario.

Financial Panic at Tokio

Banks Unable to Pay Current Wills. Drawings Close for Adjustment

London.—Despatches from Tokyo to the Exchange Telegraph announce a condition approaching financial panic there. Three banks announced they had "closed for adjustment," making a total of five which have been unable to pay current withdrawals.

The Bank of Japan called a meeting of bankers to consider coping with the situation, which is considered grave but not critical, being attributed to uneasiness over the earthquake relief legislation now before the diet.

London.—A Tokyo despatch to the Exchange Telegraph says the Japanese Government has stemmed the money panic by giving assurances of unconditional support for all banks. A timely Japanese bond subscription in the United States, it adds, has tended materially to reassure the public.

Nevertheless, the nervous strain left financial Tokyo prostrated and extremely apprehensive, and confidence will be necessarily slow in returning.

FAVORABLE TO AMENDMENT OF SEED GRAIN ACT

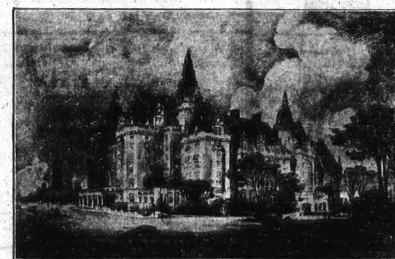

Calgary.—The Inter-provincial wheat pools, at the close of its conference in Calgary unanimously approved the resolution, passed recently by the agricultural committee of the House of Commons recommending that the Dominion Seed Act be amended by granting the minister of agriculture power to refuse a license for any new variety of wheat until its quality had been established.

A committee was appointed by the directors of the inter-provincial pools, consisting of the Dominion Cerealist, representative of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, a representative of the seed boards of the provinces in which the new variety originates, and representatives of the pools.

The purpose of the committee will be to make a study of the quality of any proposed new variety.

C. H. Burnell, president of Manitoba Pool, in the course of a brief address in referring to a world wide organization stated that while some wheat pool men might have their heads in the clouds their feet were still in the furrow. They would certainly not be led away by prospects of a world pool if there was any danger of the Canadian producers suffering.

ENLARGEMENT OF THE CHATEAU LAURIER HOTEL

The illustration has been prepared from the architect's drawings showing the appearance of the Chateau Laurier at Ottawa when the new wing will have been added. The structural addition to the hotel will provide for another 200 rooms, making a total of 600 rooms available for guests. With the changes, banquet hall and ballroom space and other public rooms will be provided on proper scale, thus enhancing the usefulness of this fine unit of the Canadian National Railway hotel system.

WOULD REMEDY PRESENT GRAIN GRADING SYSTEM

Moose Jaw.—Explanation of the work and objectives of the Wheat Pool committee investigating grain grading were given at the annual convention of the United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan Section, Limited, by Harry Marsh, Herschel, director of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool.

The Saskatchewan Wheat Pool formed a small committee to investigate the system of grain grading in operation in Canada, said Mr. Marsh, for the purpose of finding remedies for the faults in the present system. The committee consulted with the National Research Council of Canada, and the laboratories in Saskatchewan, Alberta and Manitoba, as well as the Dominion laboratory in Winnipeg under the board of grain commissioners, were working on the problems involved. The laboratories were endeavoring to ascertain the actual values of the present grades in flour products and whether or not the milling value was injured in the drying process.

The laboratories are trying to establish the actual limit of moisture that can safely be allowed in the current grades of wheat. At present the limit of moisture content is 14.1 per cent, but there is a wide-spread belief that this can safely be increased to 15 per cent without danger of the grain being damaged in its milling value.

A second point in the laboratory investigation is to establish, as definitely as possible, the relative milling values of the various grades of wheat so as to determine whether the grades between the present grades at present are equitable from the point of view of the producer of the grain.

Mr. Marsh said it was expected that the laboratories would have solved the problems involved before the 1927 crop was marketed.

The investigating committee had visited the inspection departments in Canada and the United States and as a result of their visit the committee came to the conclusion that the inspection work was being done as well as possible under the existing circumstances. It was proposed that one grain standard should apply both to primary grain inspections and to output from terminal elevators that the average of grade leaving the terminal elevators for export would be equal to the average at the inspection point in Winnipeg.

Will Be Important Port

Ten Million Being Spent on Construction at Havre

London.—Havre will be one of the most important ports in Northern France, with wharfing accommodations for the largest trans-Atlantic liners, when present construction plans are developed, Lord Kylsant announced at a general meeting of the London and Thames Haven Oil Wharves, Ltd.

Huge oil storage tanks have already been built. The whole scheme is said to involve an expenditure of about $10,000,000. The new wharf will be able to berth the Leviathan and Majestic, side by side.

France Demands Total Tonnage Control.—The French draft of a general treaty for the limitation of armaments, shows a continuation of the French insistence of a system of total naval tonnage in any allotments of naval strength, instead of the splitting up of tonnage by categories of warships, as advocated by the United States and Great Britain.

British Officials Think Balkan Incident Closed

Dangerous Developments Averted by Action of Italian Government

London.—British officials believe the latest Balkan war cloud has about blown over. This view is based on the conference between Sir Austen Chamberlain, the foreign secretary, and the Marquis della Torre, at the form office, in which the Italian ambassador gave Sir Austen the reassurance for Italy's alarm over the Albanian situation.

The marquis also expressed the view that it was largely due to the prompt action of the Italian Government in informing the powers of its suspicions of Jugo-Slavia's intentions toward Albania that dangerous developments were averted.

Downing Street considers the incident closed. It is felt in French diplomatic quarters that the moment now is ripe to seek to remove the cause of the trouble in the Balkans by a thorough examination of the situation created by the Treaty of Trianon.

The Jugo-Slav Government, it is known, has expressed willingness to accept such procedure and it is understood that Great Britain and France are disposed to use their good offices with the Italian Government in favor of having a frank exchange of views between Italy and the Belgrade Government.

Limit Time of Speeches

New Rule of House Becomes Effective Next Session

Ottawa.—New rules of the House of Commons will become effective next session, the house having adopted the report of a special committee. The limit on speeches in committee of the whole approved by the British general speeches in the house during debates to forty minutes, after debating an amendment which would have added to exceptions under the rule "motion of adjournment groups." Under the new rule, no member, except the prime minister and the leader of the opposition or a minister moving a government order and a member speaking in reply immediately after such minister, or a member making a motion of "no confidence" in the government and a minister replying thereto, shall speak for more than forty minutes at a time on any debate.

No Reciprocity Agreement

United States Will Not Enter Into Any Pact With Canada, Says U.S. Senator

Washington.—The United States will not enter into any reciprocity agreement with Canada along the lines suggested by Premier King, according to Senator Watson of Indiana, Republican leader.

The senator, who is a prominent member of the Senate reciprocity committee, said Canada in any such agreement would want to exchange foodstuffs for eastern manufactured goods and this was out of the question. He asserted the farmers of the United States would never stand for it, their feelings having been stirred by failure to get farm relief legislation.

SHANGHAI MOB ATTACKS BRITISH DEFENCE PARTY

London.—Lieut. Col. Heywood, of the British defence force, and a small party of Britishers narrowly escaped mobbing and possibly death in the native city of Shanghai, says a dispatch to The Daily Mail from its Shanghai correspondent, Sir Percival Phillips.

The dispatch says Lt. Col. Heywood and his party went by automobile to the native city to interview the Chinese general, Chou, to discuss means of alleviating the general situation.

The British car was caught in a scuffling mob of students, who, shouting "kill the foreign dogs," called for the execution. The latter appeared in his black clothes ready to perform the duties of his office, when General Chou's bodyguard, rescued the Britishers in the nick of time.

Describing the Northerners' debacle, the correspondent says the retreating soldiers were then driven sheep. News of the arrival of the Cantonese spread like wildfire and the Northerners appeared to have but one object in life, namely, to gain the shelter of the foreign settlement.

At a time when they had been making only a few minutes before. The correspondent estimated that at least 1,000 Northerners were killed, wounded or captured in the fighting with the Cantonese since only about 1,700 succeeded in entering the settlement.

FOR MIGRATION AND SETTLEMENT WITHIN EMPIRE

London.—A motion by Captain M. A. Eeles, Conservative, Warwick and Leamington, that new proposals to increase facilities for settlement overseas should be initiated in co-operation with Dominions, which was eventually adopted without division, began a private members' discussion of migration and settlement within the Empire in the House of Commons. Captain Eeles contended that the schools should educate children in regard to the dominions. He thought the Empire marketing board was producing most valuable results.

L. R. Lumley, Conservative, Hull, East, seconded Captain Eeles's motion, said the prospects for development in the dominions were very bright.

Dr. I. D. Shields, Labor, Edinburgh East, although he declared himself an internationalist, said he would prefer to see Canada united by the British race. He suspected that Czarist Europeans were welcomed there because they had a lower standard of living.

Lt. Col. L. C. Amery, under secretary of state for Dominion Affairs, made it clear that Britain was not concerned with Empire development in order to rid herself of responsibility to a single citizen of Britain. "Our policy," he said, "is the strengthening to the full of the national fabric and the helping of the development of the Empire."

Confusion in Broadcasting

Movement Advocated in U.S. to Eliminate Nuisance Stations

New York.—Confusion in broadcasting due to delayed legislation cut the radio industry $100,000,000, said L. B. F. Rycroft, vice-president in charge of the radio division of the National Electrical Manufacturers Association, in a statement.

Mr. Rycroft said that he was in favor of revoking the license of every station which jumped the space reserved for Canadian use under the "gentlemen's agreement" of the Hoover conference of past years and added that all nuisance stations should be eliminated.

Appointment Satisfactory

Post Given to Sir Granville Ryrie Tribute to War Services

London.—The appointment of Major-General Sir Granville Ryrie as the new Australian High Commissioner in London, after he had been elected by Australians both in the Commonwealth and in England with some pleasurable surprise. The post is regarded as given to Major-General Ryrie in part as a tribute to his services in the war. He is the son of the 14th Horse in Gallipoli and Palestine.

Manitoba Elections

Understand That Provincial Vote Will Be Taken on June 22

Winnipeg.—The Manitoba provincial elections will be held on June 22, it is understood. The date of the proclamation has yet been made. Nomination day will probably be June 12.

The standing of the parties in the legislature at present is:

Government, 35; Liberals, 7; Conservatives, 6; Labor, 4; Independents, 2.

International Pool Conference

Calgary, Alberta.—Quarrel here while in attendance at the inter-provincial wheat pool conference with reference to the international wheat pool conference to take place at Kays City, Mo., early in May, George W. Robertson, secretary of the international conference, intimated that a meeting of the executive committee of the conference was to take place at Minneapolis on the 28th of this month at which time final arrangements for the programme of the conference would be made.

Talc Clung Near Banff

Toronto.—Claiming to be the sole owner of an immense deposit of pure massive talc near Banff, William R. Matthews has returned to his home here following three years of prospecting in the Canadian Rockies. The vein, he says lies in a mountain summit, 7,500 feet above the sea level.

Customs Will Be Re-organized

Ottawa.—Final reading has been given in the Senate to a bill providing for the reorganization of the department of customs and excise under the name of department of national revenue.

PONTIAC Six introduced a totally new and revolutionary standard of values when the first Pontiac Six was announced a little over a year ago.

Now, Pontiac Six is increasing its lead—sweeping still further in advance of its field. For, in the New and Finer Pontiac Six, General Motors has achieved a combination of fine, six-cylinder performance, strikingly beautiful appearance and low price unequalled in all the automobile world.

Again Pontiac leads in value—and by a wider margin than ever. Small wonder that the records established by Pontiac's first year sales are already being surpassed by the enthusiastic public reception of the New and Finer Pontiac Six.

Come in and see the car, and the reasons for Pontiac leadership become at once apparent.

New Fisher Bodies
New Duo Colors
New Design Radiator
Massive Crown Fenders
Tilting-Beam Headlights
New Design Steering Wheel

New Transmission and Brake Lever
Smoother and More Positive
Clutch
Oil-Sealed Universal Joint
Three New Body Types

AT NEW LOW PRICES

DEALER FOR PONTIAC and McLAUGHLIN
A. M. MORRISON
COLEMAN : : : ALBERTA

PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS OF CANADA, LIMITED

PONTIAC SIX

Three hundred patrons had to leave a dance hall in Calgary to give place to a young sheik and his flapper, one vendor's store in Vancouver open partner who desired to practice the at night, to compete with the boot-leggers of that city.

KNAPMAN PLUMBING & HEATING CO.

BLAIRMORE

Modern Systems of Heating and Plumbing Installed

—PHONE 195—

QUALITY—

—SERVICE

Remember the NAME when you buy ---
Your Purchase Will Cause No Regrets

ALWAYS ASK FOR

CALGARY

"The Beer with the Reputation"

Why Not Have the Best? Sales Prove its MERIT.

Buy it
by the Case

Order from your Nearest Agent

This Advertisement is not inserted by the Alberta Liquor Control Board or the Government of the Province of Alberta

THE BLAIRMORE ENTERPRISE

Office of Publication:
Blairmore, Alberta.
Subscriptions to all parts of the Enterprise, $2.00 per annum. Foreign subscriptions, $2.50. Payable in advance.
Business notices, 10c per line for first insertion; 12c per line for each subsequent insertion.
Display advertising rates on application.

W. J. BAUTLETT, PUBLISHER

Blairmore, Alta., Thur., Mar. 31, 1927

SPECIAL STAMP ISSUE FOR JUBILEE YEAR

The executive of the national committee in charge of the plans for the celebration of the 60th anniversary of Confederation approved the principle of a historical issue of stamps. Some details of the plan for this issue are yet to be worked out, but a final decision will be reached at a meeting of the committee this week.

The committee have communicated with the prime ministers of the various provinces, asking co-operation in its efforts to make the celebration nationwide. The provinces will be asked to get in touch with municipal bodies within their borders, to organize through the schools and to co-operate with various associations to make the celebration of a uniform character throughout the Dominion and to avoid duplication of effort.

It was announced that the dies have been ordered in England, and that medals to commemorate the celebration will be struck off and distributed in conformity with plans to be made by the national committee.

The committee, under the chairmanship of Rt. Hon. George P. Graham, has before it a great number of suggestions as to the form the celebration shall take and a start toward consideration of these suggestions will be made tomorrow.

A NEW MAP OF NORTHWESTERN CANADA

Canada is well known from east to west in a strip of varying width along the international boundary, but general knowledge is scanty and ideas are vague concerning the vast stretches lying northward from settlement. In these northern districts lie the raw materials for future development, the water powers of great rivers, potential forest resources, probably one of the greatest mineral reserves in the world and much land may be put to productive use for stock and agriculture. Through surveys and explorations, the country is being more accurately mapped and pioneer activities have already penetrated into the north.

In a new map just issued by the topographical survey, department of the interior, the great district comprising northern portions of Alberta and British Columbia, Yukon Territory and the Mackenzie district are shown with the most complete information available. The topography is corrected to the latest surveys and all data relating to settlements, trading posts, etc., and other activities is included.

The map reveals the vastness of the country; its varied character and the activities which are already under way. It may surprise many people to know that trading posts are now established at many points along the Arctic coast, and that a modern steamboat service is operated through the Mackenzie system, making the far north accessible to the tourist, the sportsman and the business man. The map is on a scale of 50 miles to the inch and is 24 inches by 34 inches in size. It may be obtained for the nominal charge of 25 cents, or for 50 cents in folder form, on application to the Topographical Survey, Department of the Interior, Ottawa.

ONLY TWO MEN IN ENGLAND NOW WORTH $100,000,000

England has only two men in the $100,000,000 class, according to a London newspaper, which is publishing sketches of the country's sixteen richest men.

The richest is Sir John Ellerman, owner of huge shipping, brewing, and till recently, publishing interests, who began his career as an accountant.

The next richest is Lord Iveagh, son of Sir Benjamin Guinness, from whom he inherited the famous Guinness brewery in Ireland. Lord Iveagh is now 80 years old and Sir John Ellerman, 65.

According to this newspaper, the rich men next on the list are in the $50,000,000 to $75,000,000 class.

CHARLESTON FIEND BREAKS LEG DEMONSTRATING DANCE

Despite the apparent popularity of "Black Bottom" and other new dance crazes, in the larger cities on the continent, devotees of the terpsichorean art in St. Boniface, Manitoba, remain loyal to the Charleston. At least this is the conclusion reached by authorities who reported the third Charleston accident in as many weeks. The latest victim was displaying the intricacies of the dance at a party when she slipped—well, she woke up in the hospital. An X-ray showed she had sustained a complex fracture of the right leg. The "Black Bottoms" are being displayed in Blairmore now.

PROVINCIAL FINANCES

The annual review of Alberta's finances was presented to the legislature in session at Edmonton last week, by Hon. R. G. Reid, minister of the treasury. In view of the fact that the financial year of the government is to be changed to end March 31st of each year, Mr. Reid presented estimates covering the eighteen months to March 31st of 1928.

For the calendar year of 1927, he estimates that there will be a surplus in the provincial treasury of more than $26,000, with another $20,000 for the first three months of 1928, making a total of more than $46,000. The total estimated revenue for 1927 shows an increase over the actual revenue for 1926 of $88,900, and the estimated expenditures for the present year show an increase over the actual expenditures of 1926 of $580,000.

Two new taxes were announced, the first being a five per cent tax on the turn-over of all pari-mutuel machines in the province, and the second being an additional tax of one cent a gallon on gasoline. The first is expected to bring $100,000 into the treasury and the second is expected to bring $280,000 in.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the United church will be held in the church on Wednesday, April 6th, at 2:45 p.m. All ladies of the congregation are urged to be invited to attend, as final arrangements for the Easter sale are to be made. Tea will be served. The Ladies' Aid regrets having omitted last week thanking the ladies who so kindly donated to the Father and Son banquet.

AGE AND AN OAK CASK ARE VITAL TO THE PRODUCTION OF A
FINE WHISKY—

Imperial Whisky

IS MATURED IN OAK CASKS. ITS AGE IS GUARANTEED BY A GOVERNMENT STAMP

This advertisement not inserted by the Alberta Liquor Control Board or the Government of the Province of Alberta.

A Special Price on Radios

MACHINES THAT HAVE BEEN USED FOR DEMONSTRATING
AT TIME PAYMENTS

Don't Miss This Sale

CROWS' NEST PASS MOTORS
BLAIRMORE Phone 105

-- Saturday Specials -- on PURE FOOD PRODUCTS

FRESH AND CURED MEATS,
EGGS, POULTRY, BUTTER, ETC.

All Goods Government Inspected and Guaranteed as Represented

Special Reduction of 5% on all Goods for Cash

P. BURNS & CO. LTD.

Blairmore Phone 46 Bellevue 12a Hillcrest 61a Coleman 53

OFFICE PHONE 155 RESIDENCE PHONE 154

E. J. POZZI & SON Contractors & Builders

Best-Stocked Lumber
Yard in The District

DEALERS IN
Rough and Dressed Lumber
Sash and Doors. Shingles and Lath
Cement and Brick Construction
All Building Materials Supplied.
Plans Furnished. Estimates Submitted
Sash Factory in Connection

Office and Lumber Yard, Victoria Street,
BLAIRMORE ALBERTA

For Sale

Desirable Lots
and
Thirty Cottages

APPLY

WEST CANADIAN
COLLIERIES LIMITED
BLAIRMORE ALBERTA

WHAT WE KNOW ABOUT WOMEN

"There came to our desk this week a small booklet published by an old friend, W. J. Bartlett, of The Blaimore Enterprise. The title of the book is 'What We Know About Women,' and to any young man contemplating matrimony we would earnestly commend a careful reading of the booklet. Mr. Bartlett will be delighted to supply the booklet gratis on application. We might say that although Mr. Bartlett, the author, is a bachelor somewhere under seventy-five years of age, he has evidently made a very careful study of the subject."—Ben A. Huckell, Innisfail.

"Was surprised and pleased to receive on Saturday your valuable treatise on women, and after carefully perusing same on Sunday must say that it was a gem of art; but if you ever publish another, I can be of immense assistance to you on the subject and can give you many an earful about the fair sex."—Fred Palmer, Claresholm.

"I duly received your conundrum. I give it up. Whilst hesitating to give an answer as 'nothing,' I should be loth to commit myself, as a sober benedict, to what little I fancy I know."—James G. Ewan, Victoria, B.C.

Condensed Knowledge
(Bassano Mail)

What we know about women?
—Blaimore Enterprise

"The Blaimore Enterprise recently sent us a copy of 'What We Know About Women.' It contained about a dozen blank leaves inside a folder. The information The Enterprise has accumulated about women shows considerable travel and experience. We are convinced that that booklet contains profound wisdom concerning our fair sisters."—Cardston News.

Editor Kimberley Press: "Accept thanks for your booklet, 'What We Know About Women.' I will be gratified if you will send us an extra copy to be read on Sunday evenings. As a bachelor, I am afraid my opinion will have no value, but observations for many years, and from a safe distance, lead me to the conclusion that the ideas so clearly expressed by the author of your booklet may be accepted as authoritative."

A Friend in Calgary writes: "The women folk of our household insist that I write and offer you their compliments on publishing your booklet, 'What We Know About Women.' I personally feel there will be others that have scanned through the pages of your booklet and expressed a sigh of satisfaction to find NOTHING there. You have evidently given to a waiting world the key to your successful bachelorhood, for even those who cannot be listed in the booklet must appreciate your consideration for those that could."

PUTTING PEP IN BUSINESS

This is what really tends to put pep in business:

"Bellevue, Alberta, March 29, The Enterprise.

Dear Sirs: Enclosed please find cheque. Thanks very much for your prompt delivery, and I appreciate your work, which is quite satisfactory.

Yours very truly,
C. W. RAY."

Charlie is doing a whale of a business in the dry cleaning and pressing line, in addition to his regular tailoring business. He is a boy of the booster type and is fully entitled to the splendid run of business he is receiving.

HUMANITARIANISM

It is the custom nowadays for the authorities to send a man to jail if he begs the price of a meal, and when his term expires, to release him without the wherewithal to provide the next bite. If he begs for another meal, he is sent down for probably a double term.

Two recitals are to be given in the Masonic Hall at Hillcrest, on Wednesday and Thursday of next week, by the violin pupils of Mr. W. H. Moser, assisted by several of the piano pupils of Miss Madeleine Chardon. Programmes are lengthy and of an exceptionally high character. Each night's programme will consist of thirty-two items. Programmes commence at 8:15 sharp. Admission fee for adults 75 cents for the double programme; 50 cents single night admission. Children, 25 cents. The net proceeds will go towards the funds for the Crows' Nest Pass Sunday School Musical Festival, to be held in Blaimore on April 18th, 19th and 20th.

THE PASS FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

(The Blaimore Enterprise, 1912)

February 15.—The Keystone Portland Cement Co. are reported to have bought the Blaimore brick plant and the big Frank smelter. The company's new cement plant will be erected close to the east boundary of Blaimore. Mr. A. A. Muller, former general manager of the Canadian Coal Consolidated, Ltd., of Frank, but now president of the new cement company, returned from France on Monday and reports a successful mission in the interest of the new company, a bulk of the stock having been placed with Belgian capitalists. The brick plant, as an auxiliary, will have a daily capacity of 80,000 bricks, while upwards of 1500 barrels of Portland cement will be produced. About 150 men will be employed regularly, the payroll being upwards of $15,000 per month.

The marriage of Mr. Vincel Buzicka to Miss Mary Mottl was solemnized at Frank on Saturday, the 3rd, by Rev. W. T. Young. A dance was given in their honor at the Bonaniam hall.

Word has been received that Mr. Allan Moore, who went east for the winter, has taken unto himself a wife. Mr. and Mrs. Moore are expected to return to Frank soon.

At the regular meeting of the town council on Monday night, the West Canadian Collieries, Ltd., were granted permission to erect a line of electric light poles from their property near the mine along Victoria Street to the new townsite. The same meeting of the council endorsed the movement being made for the establishing of an electric tramway system between the various towns of the Pass and passed a resolution memorializing the provincial and federal governments to this effect.

J. D. S. Barrett, of The Enterprise staff, left Thursday night on a visit to California and Mexico.

A banquet was tendered Mr. R. W. Coulthard at the Sanatorium hotel on Friday night last, by the office and operating officials of the West Canadian Collieries, Ltd.

Mar On, who for a number of years has conducted a general store business in Blaimore, this week announced that he has sold out to the F. M. Thompson Co., of Lillie.

E. L. Crain, of Macleod, has been added to the mechanical staff of The Blaimore Enterprise.

Charles Chestnut has leased the west store in the Budd block, where he will conduct a restaurant business.

Miss Latia and Sheppard, of Cowley, have taken over the business until recently conducted by J. S. Murray and will conduct a millinery department in conjunction with their fruit, confectionery and ice cream store.

The new branch of the Royal Bank of Canada was opened here on Monday of this week, with Mr. H. H. Tate as manager. Mike Rosse had the honor of making the first deposit in the new bank.

February 22.—P. E. Gemen has assumed the management of the Rocky Mountains Sanatorium hotel at Frank.

The regular meeting of the Young People's Guild on Monday night was addressed by Dr. A. H. Baker on the subject: "The Cure and Prevention of Crime."

A. A. Muller has resigned the position of general manager of the Canadian Coal Consolidated Co. at Frank.

The F. M. Thompson Co. will take over the Mar On business on April 1st. Mar On will leave for China shortly, where he will engage in the wholesale importing and exporting business at Hong Kong.

Miss Lea Gales and Mrs. A. E. Hamel left on Monday for Victoria, where the latter will join her husband, formerly of the Alberta Trading Co. here.

Messrs. Harold Pinkney and W. M.

A SOUND INVESTMENT

We offer

$100,000.00

New issue

LETHBRIDGE BREWERIES, LIMITED

7%—FIRST MORTGAGE—10 Year

BONDS

Price: 100 and interest yielding 7%

THE OPPORTUNITY SELDOM COMES TO PURCHASE
A BOND AS WELL SECURED AND YIELDING

7%

ASSETS—over $4,760.00 for each $1,000.00 bond.

EARNINGS—over eight times interest requirements.

MARKETABILITY—these bonds can be readily converted into cash should the holder require the funds at any time.

We can strongly recommend these bonds to the most conservative investor or as an absolutely safe and attractive investment

FULL PARTICULARS ON REQUEST

G. F. TULL & ARDERN, LIMITED
LANCASTER BUILDING
CALGARY, ALTA.

Direct private leased wires to all markets

Armstrong, who have been attending the Okanagan college, returned home on Wednesday. Mr. Pinkney has had a very successful term, and among other subjects attained maximum marks in French.

The marriage of Frank Cersey to Miss Anna Horokova was solemnized at Frank by Rev. W. T. Young on February 17th.

Robins were singing at Blossom-wood Ranch this morning, said to forecast an early spring.

The State of New York is considering censorship to discourage stage indecency. Bishop Manning, of the Protestant Episcopal Church, is opposing such censorship. The odds are said to be 100 to 1 that the bill will be passed and stage censorship established.

Miss Edna M. Fulton is now permanently engaged on the Calgary teaching staff, having accepted one of the best positions in the city schools.

In Detroit a few days ago, a baby an hour old underwent an operation for appendicitis and after the operation was resting easily.

Five in the business section of Glace Bay last week did damage estimated at $350,000.

THREE
SURE
WINNERS

And all protected by this well known trademark

CALGARY

BEER— "The Beer with the Reputation"—undoubtedly the leader in its field—obtained everywhere.

ALE— Brewed as Ale should be, under the famous Burton Union System—matured for one year.

STOUT— Fully matured in the wood and bottled from the original cask—not artificially carbonated.

Ale and Stout are over 14 per cent Proof Spirits
At the Government Vendor only

ALWAYS INSIST ON GETTING

CALGARY

This Advertisement is Not Licensed by the Alberta Liquor Control Board, or by the Government of the Province of Alberta.

The Most Beautiful
Chevrolet

in Chevrolet History is now selling at New and Lower Prices—
the lowest for which
Chevrolet has ever been sold in Canada

TOURING	ROADSTER	COACH	COUPE
$655	$655	$760	$780
SEDAN	LANDAU SEDAN	CABRIOLET
$865	$930	$890

All Prices at Factory, Oshawa, Taxes Extra

CP-4816

DEALERS FOR CHEVROLET

CROWS' NEST PASS MOTORS

Phone 105 — Blaimore, Alberta

PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS OF CANADA, LIMITED

WORLD HAPPENINGS
BRIEFLY TOLD

Major General Sir Granville Eyles has been appointed Australian High Commissioner in London. He will succeed Sir Joseph Cook, who is retiring after many years of service in that post.

Premier Mackenzie King assured the House of Commons an extension of time would be granted this session in which civil servants might elect to come under the Calder Act for superannuation purposes.

Home Minister Hamaguchi of Japan announced that 3,274 persons were killed and 6,734 injured, and that 83 per cent of the buildings in the affected area were wholly or partially destroyed in the recent earthquake.

To replenish depleted British Columbia herds, a carload of mountain sheep from Banff National Park and another of elk from Watnwright National Park are being brought to the province and the Calder Act in the mountain near Spenceville.

Manitoba farmers are calling for British and Scandinavian farm laborers to assist in the spring work, stated an official of the Land Settlement branch of the Canadian Pacific railway, and every immigrant of this class will be certain of a position.

Creating two new records Captain F. J. Marigold, of the steamship Delta House City, brought his ship into Toronto Port, March 22, from Port Dalhousie. In opening navigation Captain Marigold clipped two days off his previous record. The time-honored old hat was presented the captain.

The City of Jerusalem is the name of the first giant aeroplane of the British Imperial Airways which will connect England with India. Lord Plumer, High Commissioner of Palestine, will christen the airship at the Kalandia Aerodrome. The airship recently flew from England to inaugurate commercial aviation between Cairo and Karachi.

In a letter received by Col. J. T. Thompson, commander of school cadets in Toronto, King George highly praises the marksmanship of Canadian school boys who took second place in the Empire-wide competition for the King's trophy and the Imperial Challenge Shield. Last year, Canadian boys received the lion's share of the medals won in these competitions.

Chinese Characters by Telegraph

Adapt New System That Makes Possible Transmission of News in Chinese Language

The Chinese government has adopted the Bells system of telegraphy. This makes possible the transmission of Chinese characters by telegraph for the first time, according to the inventor, who has just returned to Paris after a trip financed by Gen. Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian war lord.

"Because an alphabet does not exist in Chinese, there being some 50,000 ideograms instead, heretofore it has been impossible to transmit a message written in Chinese without translation, usually into English, necessitating great labor and confusion," M. Belin said.

"Gen. Chang has set his technical services to work installing the telegraphic system by which the actual photograph of the message is transmitted, as in France, where the system was installed a year ago."

Making a Last Stand

London Writer Says Russia's Destiny Being Fought Out in China

Trotsky with extreme cleverness, has declared that if the theory of world-revolution is abandoned, Socialism cannot maintain itself even in Russia. The idea that the British Empire can be fatally injured in China is the very last hope for the theory of world-revolution already crushed in Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Japan and elsewhere, not to mention the United States. The destiny of Russia itself is being fought out in China.—J. L. Garvin in London Observer.

Manitoba Good Roads

The Province of Manitoba has expended $7,645,591 on good roads since the incorporation of the Province, according to a return tabled in the Legislature by the Hon. W. R. Clubb, Minister of Public Works. Maintenance of roads has increased from $10,251 in 1926 to $99,989 in 1926, owing to the inauguration of the provincial trunk highway system.

The funeral of the late Emperor of Japan cost $2,000,000, says a dispatch. No wonder the people shout "Long live the emperor."

W. N. U. 1674

Good Health Is First Essential

Tremendous Economic Loss to Canada Through Preventable Diseases

Canada pays heavily for her unnecessary diseases. The annual bill which Canadians foot for preventable illness has now become a tremendous burden.

These facts were brought home to a representative group of prominent Canadians at the conclusion of the advisory board of the Canadian Social Hygiene Council, held in the House of Commons.

Half of the 150,000 cases of illness now reported annually are preventable. Sir George Foster told the conference. Thirty per cent of deaths are also preventable. Each year, in the Dominion, 10,500,000 days of labor are lost unnecessarily through illness.

His Excellency, the Governor-General, who is a strong believer in voluntary health work, was one of the outstanding speakers. Hon. Dr. King, Minister of Health, with whose sanction the conference was called, was another who had a prominent place in the proceedings.

"Good health is the first essential of a virile nation," said the Governor-General.

He gave it as his own experience that he had always found the work of voluntary organizations of great value. Sir Arthur Currie, principal of McGill University and chairman of the board, also stressed the necessity for official recognition of the importance of public health. He characterized it as the first duty of the state and held that good health was largely purchasable through the application of the knowledge we now possess.

He, too, referred to the tremendous amount of preventable illness and the huge economic losses for which it was responsible. In Montreal, the number of cases of preventable disease per annum was reported to be in the neighborhood of 20,000.

These opinions were summed up in a motion put forward by Sir George Foster which passed unanimously. It declared that, in spite of the magnificent results achieved by health authorities in cutting down mortality rates, preventable illness and death still remain a very serious problem in our national expenditure; preventable disease fills hospital and institutional beds unnecessarily and is a factor in the creation of various social problems of a costly nature. In view of these facts, the conference went on record as endorsing voluntary and governmental efforts to conserve health and life as well as the expenditure of voluntary and public funds for the purpose.

Britain's Labor Problem

Urges Pensioning Workers at Age of 65 to Make Room For Able-Bodied Unemployed

The pensioning of workers over sixty-five years of age to make room for England's young able-bodied unemployed was a suggestion made by Lady Cynthia Mosley, wife of the Laborite member of parliament, Oswald Mosley, at a Labor meeting. There were nearly 600,000 men and women, aged 65, whom it would be better to retire on pensions, drafting in their places part of England's 1,500,000 unemployed. The money saved from unemployment doles would pay the pensions, she said.

House On Turntable

French Architects Design House With Unique Feature

A house on a turntable, to follow the sun, is proposed by prominent French architect. A model exhibited at Nice shows a villa mounted on a modified railroad turntable, with an electric motor to enable the occupants to turn the house at will. A strong pillar is designed to resist wind pressure. The original model provides for a $50,000 house, with the turntable feature costing $8,000, but cheaper designs are predicted with the turntable only costing about $300.

A Medical Error

Doctor McTavish had worked hard to put his boy Sandy through medical school. When Sandy graduated and returned home the old doctor turned his practice over to the boy and took a well-earned vacation.

Upon his return he was greeted by Sandy at the station, who said: "Father, I've made some marvelous cures. I even cured Mrs. MacGregor's stomach trouble after you had threatened her for four years!"

"What?" exclaimed the old doctor. "I'll have you to know that Mrs. MacGregor's stomach put you through college!"

While the number of lay scholars in London elementary schools is steadily decreasing, the students at evening classes are increasing by 10,000 a year.

Will Work Together

Over Mining Problems

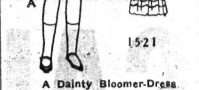

U.S. and Canada Have Many in Common and Can Reduce Expense by Co-operation

Vancouver Province: An agreement has been reached between the department of mines at Ottawa, the Dominion research council and the United States bureau of mines for close co-operation in the investigation of problems affecting the mineral industry of the two countries. This agreement should prove of the very highest value. So far as the recovery of minerals is concerned, and their utilization, Canada and the United States have many problems which are identical, and others that are very similar. It would be a waste of effort and money on the part of the two governments to set up separate and independent establishments to investigate the same questions, when co-operation might easily bring earlier results at smaller cost.

Even between countries so widely separated as Great Britain and the United States, co-operation in seeking solutions to mining problems has proven of value. For some years, the United States has had a couple of men in England, and there have been one or two British representatives in the United States, striving to co-ordinate the work of the two countries. Dr. Dorsey Lyon, chief metallurgist of the United States bureau, has stated that the United States has reaped very great benefit from the work done in the republic by some of the British representatives, and has expressed the belief that British metallurgists along from the work done there by the American scientists.

Between Canada and the United States bureaus there has been unofficial co-operation and exchange of information for some time. Now the co-operation is to be made official and a matter of policy. It is not thought an exchange of investigators will be necessary, since the two countries are so close together that they can easily keep in touch with one another.

Winnipeg Newspaper Union

Bishop Sherman Has
He-Man Job in West

To familiarize himself with a diocese of 100,000 square miles, an area nearly double the size of England, is the work ahead of Dr. J. Ralph Sherman, Anglican Bishop-elect of Calgary, who will have among his parishioners the Prince of Wales through the fact that His Royal Highness operates a ranch at High River. Dr. Sherman, who prior to his elevation was Dean of Quebec and before that was rector of a parish in Saint John, New Brunswick, will thus become widely familiar with conditions both in the East and West of Canada. He travelled to his new diocese by Canadian Pacific Railway and will be increasingly using this company in his wide travels throughout his huge diocese.

Attaining Supremacy
In the Mediterranean

By End of Year British Fleet Will Equal Combined Strength of France and Italy

By the end of this year British naval power in the Mediterranean Sea will be great enough to match the combined navies of France and Italy. At the same time the British power in the Atlantic will be as great as the entire French fleet, while Great Britain's control of Gibraltar enables her to co-ordinate forces between the two waters on a one-way basis of time for the fastest ships to steam from the Atlantic base at Portsmouth to the Mediterranean base at Malta. These facts emerge from Great Britain's memorandum to accompany naval estimates laid before Parliament.

They reveal that for the first time since the German navy began to be a menace to British sea supremacy, Great Britain has reverted to her old naval strategy of basing the greatest power in the Mediterranean. The Malta fleet will include ten Royal Sovereign and Queen Elizabeth class ships, all mounting 15-inch guns. This fleet will not be fully constituted, however, until the new oil vessels, Nelson and Rodney, claimed to be the most powerful warships afloat, join the Atlantic fleet which then will comprise in addition, four of the Iron Duke class and three battle cruisers. The China squadron will be strengthened this year when five cruisers more than ten years old will be relieved by five "treaty cruisers" of the Kent class, each of 10,000 tons, mounting eight eight-inch guns, and 31 knots speed. This fleet could be reinforced by three modern cruisers stationed at the East Indies, and will be ten cruisers strong when two Kent-type cruisers being built in Australia are ready next February.

Tourist Land Ideal

Possibly the greatest appeal of the Canadian national parks lies in the fact that notwithstanding the many conveniences introduced, the comfort of travellers through these immense virgin areas, none of the lure of the unknown has been lost. Primitive forests, peopled by hundreds of wild birds and animals, creep down to the shores of the lakes and border the roads and trails. The beautiful lakes teem with fish, and the wild gardens are masses of wildflowers. Here, surely, is the tourist land ideal, where the mental and physical man may be refreshed and invigorated.

An Amazing Treatment

The X-ray machine in use at the Christian hospital at Pyongyang, Korea, has effected some of the best treatments once practiced by Korean doctors of the old school. One man recently examined had 43 copper needles lodged in his abdomen. They had been thrust in, two or three at a time, over a period of four years, as a treatment for indigestion.

Members of a religious sect in St. Berna reside underground from the age of 40 until death.

Give some people half a chance and they will take the other half.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

APRIL 3.

PETER BECOMES A DISCIPLE OF JESUS

Golden Text: Come ye after me, and I will make you to become fishers of men.—Mark 1:17.

Lesson: Mark 1:14-18, 29-31.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 53:1-5.

Explanations and Comments

1. Peter Becomes a Disciple of Jesus, verses 14-18.—After John the Baptist was imprisoned and his work as a herald was over (Matthew 14: 8-5; Luke 3: 19-20), Jesus went from Judea to Galilee and there proclaimed the good news (the gospel) of God, and announced that the time had been fulfilled, the world was ready for a new order of things, and the Kingdom of God was at hand. More than a hundred times Jesus used the phrase "Kingdom of God" or its equivalent; what did He mean by it? It is a phrase which in different parts of the Bible has four different meanings, being now present and now future; but its usual meaning is as here, the rule of God in the hearts of men. Lo, the Kingdom is within you, Luke 17:21.

Jesus came preaching that this Kingdom was at hand. Most of his teaching was conversational, but he preached four great sermons, all of which concerned the coming of the Kingdom. In the first, he announced that he was the Messiah, the one to inaugurate this Kingdom. In the second he interpreted the fundamental principle of the Kingdom. At the end of his life, in the Court of Calaph, he reaffirmed himself to be the long-expected Deliverer coming to establish the Kingdom of God on the earth. And after his resurrection his disciples went forth, not to teach, but to proclaim their faith in the Kingdom and in Jesus its Founder.—Loyman Abbott.

Plan to Eliminate Fog

Airplanes to Be Used Over Lake Michigan This Purpose

Flying branches of the army and navy are greatly interested in experiments shortly to be made in Chicago to determine whether the fog overhanging Lake Michigan can be eliminated by static electricity shot from airplanes.

Success will have an important bearing on the project for a $3,000,000 airport on the lake front there. Unless the fog can be eliminated or greatly lightened, operation of the proposed airport would be much handicapped about one-third of the year.

Both the army and navy have conducted experiments along this line in the past with considerable success. Solution of the problem will be of great value to aviation in general.

Living Longer

Average Length of Life Now Placed at 58 Years

Is it true that everybody is living longer than his forebears, and how does that happen? wondered Dr. Charles Horace Mayo's hearers at the University of Chicago. The average length of life was twenty years in 1650; forty in 1850; forty-five in 1875; is fifty-eight now. This improvement is, he declared, because people are learning to take better care of themselves. Said Dr. Mayo: "The dangerous age of woman is from 16 to 18. But the dangerous age of a man is from 50 to 55. If you can't keep your eye on them, lock them up. Gland transference is the bunk."

Export Trade in Beef Cattle

Conditions Said to Be Better Now Than for Some Time Past

The opportunity, which Canadian breeders of beef cattle have to occupy the British market at the present time were stressed by Dr. J. B. Girdale, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, before the Agricultural Committee of the House of Commons and G. H. Rothwell, chief of the Animal Husbandry Branch. With a reduction in rates and an increase in the buying power of the British public, conditions were better than for some time past, and they believed Western Canada had a great future in exporting to the export trade.

Assistance to Settlers

The Manitoba Government, according to the Premier, will give special assistance to settlers within its borders this year. It will establish a bureau of information in connection with the plans for the development of unused agricultural lands. Several inspectors, acting under the Minister of Agriculture, will be appointed who will aid in placing new settlers in desirable locations.

To the destruction of the city of London by fire in 1666 may be traced the present system of fire insurance. The first company was formed at that time.

Ancient Laws And Modern Theories

Organized labor in the United States is now frankly out with a new objective, namely, the five-day week. The Good Book tells that "Six days shalt thou labor," but an ingenious exponent of the Bible answers:

"Those who approve the five-day working week will probably say that the important command is 'Thou shalt labor and do all thy work,' and that the 'six days' was the measure of time required in periods when there were no labor-saving inventions or quick transportation. Undoubtedly a man can do more work in five days now than he could accomplish in six days when he travelled by ox-cart, rode a horse, or walked on footpaths, and when there were no labor-saving devices."

This is very plausible, but one wonders where it will all end. The food and the work obviously can not be produced from forty-four per week labor; transportation cannot be conducted on a forty-four-hour per-week basis, either on land or sea; nor can steel be produced for construction, home-building, and factory building on this labor basis. The farm is a seven-day week proposition and must always remain so. Here we are up against a fact, not a theory and nothing can change it. Even the present urban scheme of life is highly indolent by comparison.

The inevitable social and economic answer to a five-day-week is an increase in the price of food products of so fantastic a nature as to render farming the most highly paid of human occupations. Or, as a first effect, spectacular rural depopulation, as a logical reaction to so attractive an urban scheme of life, followed by a period of wholesale starvation, leading to the high agricultural "freaks" of the Society of Christian Scientists with one-half of the people working forty hours, and the other half sixty-five strenuous hours per week, without one class paying the other any compensation. Contrary to popular superstition, the word "happiness" are not synonymous terms. Natural laws will fix hours and expenditures in the end.

But Canada, being still in a comparatively undeveloped state, possesses many years to come bid for additional rural population and must, therefore, see to it that the countryside does not suffer unduly through a too unfavorable comparison between the rural and the urban working programs even if it is only of a temporary nature. An overwhelming agricultural country, such as Canada is, cannot with impunity increase the social burden of its agriculture in order to further aggrandize the living conditions of its urban workers.

Princess Louise

Duchess of Argyll, Wife of Former Governor-General of Canada, Reaches Her Eightieth

Many Canadians of middle age, who remember when Royalty held sway at Rideau House may be surprised to learn that the Princess Louise, Duchess of Argyll, has entered upon her eightieth year. It was near the close of the '70s that Her Royal Highness, then the young and beautiful Marchioness of Lorne, came over to Canada with her husband, who had been appointed Viceroy of the Dominion. For many years she has been the Princess and Lord Lorne, son and heir of the Duke of Argyll, had taken place in St. George's chapel, Windsor, the bride being given away by her mother, Queen Victoria. The Duchess of Argyll, as she became upon the death of her father-in-law in 1900, spent several delightful years in Canada, and she has always entertained the most affectionate regard for Canada.

Would Tax Furs

Legislation empowering the Commissioner in Council, under the Northwest Territories Act, to make ordinances for the levying of an export tax upon furs exported from the territories to any part of Canada, or to any foreign country, will be introduced at the present session of Parliament, according to notice given by the Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior.

Alberta Co-Operative Credits

A million dollars, roughly, was advanced to the farmers of Alberta under the Co-operative Credit Act of 1926, according to the annual report of the working of that Act presented to the Legislature by Provincial Treasurer Hon. R. G. Field. There were 53 societies with a membership of 1,165 farmers operating.

The verb "wallop" was added to the dictionary from the name of Sir John Wallop, a British soldier who inflicted some heavy defeats on the French.

Health Broken—Lost 66 lbs. Now Well, Won Back 82 lbs.

Ottawa merchant, formerly city officer, rundown by kidney trouble. Wasted from 201 to 135 lbs.

Tanlac restored robust health; now weighs 217 lbs. and feels fine

Philas Benin's grocery at 255 St. Patrick St. is well known in Ottawa. Benin was formerly a police officer. When ill-health seized him he lost weight rapidly. "I had kidney trouble for 6 years," he tells, "and was given up as a hopeless case. Many times, from sheer weakness, I have fallen where I stood, and had to be helped to my feet."

"Pains racked my entire system, especially my back, which felt like splitting. Needless to say, I could neither sit nor sleep normally. Weak spells and nervousness would leave me trembling all over. I faded away from 201 to 135 lbs., and tried endless treatments and remedies in those 6 years, without result."

"I had begun to despair, and when a friend advised Tanlac I was skeptical. But one month's regular use of this wonderful medicine convinced me that I was on the road to health. I kept on taking Tanlac and to my delight and surprise it made me a new man in a surprisingly short time."

Now I weigh 217 lbs., eat and sleep like a healthy boy, and feel like a different man altogether."

"If neglect or overwork are taking toll of your health, try Tanlac. It is nature's own tonic, made from roots, herbs and berries. Your druggist has it. Over 50 million bottles sold."

Strange, Romantic Love Adventures of the Flapper you know

by H. L. GATES

Copyright 1925 by H. L. GATES

Published by arrangement with First National Pictures, Inc.

CHAPTER XXXI—Continued

As the red car felt its way upwards, the mist became less oppressive. Twice the lamp outlined the car ahead, with a suddenness that would have unstrung the nerves of most motorists, but Kenilworth was a nervous driver and Joanna seemed oblivious to every danger. At times when the man beside her was particularly intent upon his wheel and his thoughts concentrated upon some bend in the road, she studied his face.

They paused for a minute at the village of La Turbie. Across a gorge the lights in the windows of a villa were twinkles of red fire where, on a clear night, there would have been a brilliant blaze. The atmosphere had

A woman who had become careless breezed up to Brandon and boldly commanded him to take her onto the floor.

curiously. They saw that whoever had been at the wheel had left it to go into the hot, probably.

The other figure was too muffled to be recognized. When he had failed his cigarette he tapped on the door and was admitted. The orchestra was playing a fox trot in languid rhythm and the floor was thronged with couples whose moods the musicians knew as well how to interpret.

Brandon surveyed the dancers with searching glances. Then he looked among the tables. Suddenly his eyes found a slender figure in black, with gold brown hair, at a table half hidden behind the posted palms that shut off a corner of the balcony that overhung the dance floor. He appeared to be satisfied, then, and dropped in to a place at an unreserved table and ordered a liqueur.

CHAPTER XXXII
La Turbie

Even as Brandon watched the slim figure in black, from his table, the orchestra struck up a waltz, a slowly rhythmed, exotic melody that chanted like a song of passion. The figure in black rose. The man across from her whom Brandon had recognized, who had been at the wheel, was on his feet with a woman who had become careless breezed up to Brandon just then and boldly commanded him to take her onto the floor. He eyed her coolly and shook his head.

"I'll rather watch them," he said, and motioned to the vacant seat at his table in invitation to the unknown to sit out the number with him. The unknown declined. "I want to waltz," she said. "Any one will do—just so you, a more gallant knight will humor me. It's the only time I ever think when I waltz."

"An odd condition, that!" Brandon frowned. "Sounds so, doesn't it?" she returned. "I don't know. Women think while they waltz, all women do. It reminds them of foolish dreams they had when they were very young." With a flirt of her hand across his shoulders the unknown disappeared. A moment later he saw her, among the dancers, and saw that she was dancing shyly. And he saw, too, that Joanna, a striking figure in the colorful mass, danced stiffly; as if she, too, were thinking. He saw, too, that Kenilworth was holding her tightly.

When the music died in a plaintive bar, the dancers stood, expectant of the customary encore. The lights, which had dimmed, flared, however, and a roll of the orchestra drums announced an unreserved intermission. From the balcony falling a voice called, "Monseigneur et Madame!" All who were in the room glanced up, curiously, at the club house host, who stood at the rail, leaning forward over the dance floor. "It is desirable, my friends," the functionary called

had left down the road—owing into the yard. The lustre of the lamps flared suddenly bright and, for an instant, enveloped them in their mist-dimmed light.

Kenilworth's fingers lingered at their task of fixing the silver cord. His fingers quivered when the short, gold brown strands of hair slid among them. Joanna moved closer to him, and rested her hand lightly on his arm. When he let his fingers relax that the night breeze might blow her hair about them, he stared into her eyes and fancied that they had widened and that a circle of black had formed about the shimmering iris in each of them.

Then he caught her in a fevered clasp. She did not draw away, but reached up and drew down his head until she could frame his face with her two hands. Then she let him rest his lips on hers.

When he let her go because he dared hold her no longer, and because couples who had come out into the yard were stopping to glance curiously at them, Joanna laughed, the rippling laugh that might be bristling as well as musical, and said to him while he faced his own mask:

"You see, Roddy, the wall's clear down. I'm in the open, and I'm fighting fair!"

When they had disappeared across the club house veranda and through the doors which had been opened to them by the red-coated attendant, one of the two men who had sat at the wheel in their seats in the other car, descended. To the one who remained at the wheel this one said:

Back around between the red car and the gate, so you can get out first if there's a rush for the road at any time."

"It is getting tick and madd, Master," the one at the wheel grumbled, in the voice of Antoine. "In another ten minutes, we won't be able to use the wheels and all there'll be between us, and eternally, on the road down there, will be the brakes."

"Then your men will have less fear of being recognized, and so will you," the other retorted. "That pleases you, doesn't it?"

While Antoine muttered unthinkingly, Brandon threw his coat into the car and fixed his mask carefully.

He did not go at once into the house, but loitered on the veranda, smoking. When he had finished his cigarette he tapped on the door and was admitted. The orchestra was playing a fox trot in languid rhythm and the floor was thronged with couples whose moods the musicians knew as well how to interpret.

Brandon surveyed the dancers with searching glances. Then he looked among the tables. Suddenly his eyes found a slender figure in black, with gold brown hair, at a table half hidden behind the posted palms that shut off a corner of the balcony that overhung the dance floor. He appeared to be satisfied, then, and dropped in to a place at an unreserved table and ordered a liqueur.

CHAPTER XXXII
La Turbie

Even as Brandon watched the slim figure in black, from his table, the orchestra struck up a waltz, a slowly rhythmed, exotic melody that chanted like a song of passion. The figure in black rose. The man across from her whom Brandon had recognized, who had been at the wheel, was on his feet with a woman who had become careless breezed up to Brandon just then and boldly commanded him to take her onto the floor. He eyed her coolly and shook his head.

"I'll rather watch them," he said, and motioned to the vacant seat at his table in invitation to the unknown to sit out the number with him. The unknown declined. "I want to waltz," she said. "Any one will do—just so you, a more gallant knight will humor me. It's the only time I ever think when I waltz."

"An odd condition, that!" Brandon frowned. "Sounds so, doesn't it?" she returned. "I don't know. Women think while they waltz, all women do. It reminds them of foolish dreams they had when they were very young." With a flirt of her hand across his shoulders the unknown disappeared. A moment later he saw her, among the dancers, and saw that she was dancing shyly. And he saw, too, that Joanna, a striking figure in the colorful mass, danced stiffly; as if she, too, were thinking. He saw, too, that Kenilworth was holding her tightly.

When the music died in a plaintive bar, the dancers stood, expectant of the customary encore. The lights, which had dimmed, flared, however, and a roll of the orchestra drums announced an unreserved intermission. From the balcony falling a voice called, "Monseigneur et Madame!" All who were in the room glanced up, curiously, at the club house host, who stood at the rail, leaning forward over the dance floor. "It is desirable, my friends," the functionary called

had left down the road—owing into the yard. The lustre of the lamps flared suddenly bright and, for an instant, enveloped them in their mist-dimmed light.

Kenilworth's fingers lingered at their task of fixing the silver cord. His fingers quivered when the short, gold brown strands of hair slid among them. Joanna moved closer to him, and rested her hand lightly on his arm. When he let his fingers relax that the night breeze might blow her hair about them, he stared into her eyes and fancied that they had widened and that a circle of black had formed about the shimmering iris in each of them.

Then he caught her in a fevered clasp. She did not draw away, but reached up and drew down his head until she could frame his face with her two hands. Then she let him rest his lips on hers.

When he let her go because he dared hold her no longer, and because couples who had come out into the yard were stopping to glance curiously at them, Joanna laughed, the rippling laugh that might be bristling as well as musical, and said to him while he faced his own mask:

"You see, Roddy, the wall's clear down. I'm in the open, and I'm fighting fair!"

When they had disappeared across the club house veranda and through the doors which had been opened to them by the red-coated attendant, one of the two men who had sat at the wheel in their seats in the other car, descended. To the one who remained at the wheel this one said:

Back around between the red car and the gate, so you can get out first if there's a rush for the road at any time."

"It is getting tick and madd, Master," the one at the wheel grumbled, in the voice of Antoine. "In another ten minutes, we won't be able to use the wheels and all there'll be between us, and eternally, on the road down there, will be the brakes."

"Then your men will have less fear of being recognized, and so will you," the other retorted. "That pleases you, doesn't it?"

While Antoine muttered unthinkingly, Brandon threw his coat into the car and fixed his mask carefully.

He did not go at once into the house, but loitered on the veranda, smoking. When he had finished his cigarette he tapped on the door and was admitted. The orchestra was playing a fox trot in languid rhythm and the floor was thronged with couples whose moods the musicians knew as well how to interpret.

Brandon surveyed the dancers with searching glances. Then he looked among the tables. Suddenly his eyes found a slender figure in black, with gold brown hair, at a table half hidden behind the posted palms that shut off a corner of the balcony that overhung the dance floor. He appeared to be satisfied, then, and dropped in to a place at an unreserved table and ordered a liqueur.

CHAPTER XXXII
La Turbie

Even as Brandon watched the slim figure in black, from his table, the orchestra struck up a waltz, a slowly rhythmed, exotic melody that chanted like a song of passion. The figure in black rose. The man across from her whom Brandon had recognized, who had been at the wheel, was on his feet with a woman who had become careless breezed up to Brandon just then and boldly commanded him to take her onto the floor. He eyed her coolly and shook his head.

"I'll rather watch them," he said, and motioned to the vacant seat at his table in invitation to the unknown to sit out the number with him. The unknown declined. "I want to waltz," she said. "Any one will do—just so you, a more gallant knight will humor me. It's the only time I ever think when I waltz."

"An odd condition, that!" Brandon frowned. "Sounds so, doesn't it?" she returned. "I don't know. Women think while they waltz, all women do. It reminds them of foolish dreams they had when they were very young." With a flirt of her hand across his shoulders the unknown disappeared. A moment later he saw her, among the dancers, and saw that she was dancing shyly. And he saw, too, that Joanna, a striking figure in the colorful mass, danced stiffly; as if she, too, were thinking. He saw, too, that Kenilworth was holding her tightly.

When the music died in a plaintive bar, the dancers stood, expectant of the customary encore. The lights, which had dimmed, flared, however, and a roll of the orchestra drums announced an unreserved intermission. From the balcony falling a voice called, "Monseigneur et Madame!" All who were in the room glanced up, curiously, at the club house host, who stood at the rail, leaning forward over the dance floor. "It is desirable, my friends," the functionary called

had left down the road—owing into the yard. The lustre of the lamps flared suddenly bright and, for an instant, enveloped them in their mist-dimmed light.

Kenilworth's fingers lingered at their task of fixing the silver cord. His fingers quivered when the short, gold brown strands of hair slid among them. Joanna moved closer to him, and rested her hand lightly on his arm. When he let his fingers relax that the night breeze might blow her hair about them, he stared into her eyes and fancied that they had widened and that a circle of black had formed about the shimmering iris in each of them.

Then he caught her in a fevered clasp. She did not draw away, but reached up and drew down his head until she could frame his face with her two hands. Then she let him rest his lips on hers.

When he let her go because he dared hold her no longer, and because couples who had come out into the yard were stopping to glance curiously at them, Joanna laughed, the rippling laugh that might be bristling as well as musical, and said to him while he faced his own mask:

"You see, Roddy, the wall's clear down. I'm in the open, and I'm fighting fair!"

When they had disappeared across the club house veranda and through the doors which had been opened to them by the red-coated attendant, one of the two men who had sat at the wheel in their seats in the other car, descended. To the one who remained at the wheel this one said:

Back around between the red car and the gate, so you can get out first if there's a rush for the road at any time."

"It is getting tick and madd, Master," the one at the wheel grumbled, in the voice of Antoine. "In another ten minutes, we won't be able to use the wheels and all there'll be between us, and eternally, on the road down there, will be the brakes."

"Then your men will have less fear of being recognized, and so will you," the other retorted. "That pleases you, doesn't it?"

While Antoine muttered unthinkingly, Brandon threw his coat into the car and fixed his mask carefully.

He did not go at once into the house, but loitered on the veranda, smoking. When he had finished his cigarette he tapped on the door and was admitted. The orchestra was playing a fox trot in languid rhythm and the floor was thronged with couples whose moods the musicians knew as well how to interpret.

Brandon surveyed the dancers with searching glances. Then he looked among the tables. Suddenly his eyes found a slender figure in black, with gold brown hair, at a table half hidden behind the posted palms that shut off a corner of the balcony that overhung the dance floor. He appeared to be satisfied, then, and dropped in to a place at an unreserved table and ordered a liqueur.

CHAPTER XXXII
La Turbie

Even as Brandon watched the slim figure in black, from his table, the orchestra struck up a waltz, a slowly rhythmed, exotic melody that chanted like a song of passion. The figure in black rose. The man across from her whom Brandon had recognized, who had been at the wheel, was on his feet with a woman who had become careless breezed up to Brandon just then and boldly commanded him to take her onto the floor. He eyed her coolly and shook his head.

"I'll rather watch them," he said, and motioned to the vacant seat at his table in invitation to the unknown to sit out the number with him. The unknown declined. "I want to waltz," she said. "Any one will do—just so you, a more gallant knight will humor me. It's the only time I ever think when I waltz."

"An odd condition, that!" Brandon frowned. "Sounds so, doesn't it?" she returned. "I don't know. Women think while they waltz, all women do. It reminds them of foolish dreams they had when they were very young." With a flirt of her hand across his shoulders the unknown disappeared. A moment later he saw her, among the dancers, and saw that she was dancing shyly. And he saw, too, that Joanna, a striking figure in the colorful mass, danced stiffly; as if she, too, were thinking. He saw, too, that Kenilworth was holding her tightly.

When the music died in a plaintive bar, the dancers stood, expectant of the customary encore. The lights, which had dimmed, flared, however, and a roll of the orchestra drums announced an unreserved intermission. From the balcony falling a voice called, "Monseigneur et Madame!" All who were in the room glanced up, curiously, at the club house host, who stood at the rail, leaning forward over the dance floor. "It is desirable, my friends," the functionary called

had left down the road—owing into the yard. The lustre of the lamps flared suddenly bright and, for an instant, enveloped them in their mist-dimmed light.

Kenilworth's fingers lingered at their task of fixing the silver cord. His fingers quivered when the short, gold brown strands of hair slid among them. Joanna moved closer to him, and rested her hand lightly on his arm. When he let his fingers relax that the night breeze might blow her hair about them, he stared into her eyes and fancied that they had widened and that a circle of black had formed about the shimmering iris in each of them.

Then he caught her in a fevered clasp. She did not draw away, but reached up and drew down his head until she could frame his face with her two hands. Then she let him rest his lips on hers.

When he let her go because he dared hold her no longer, and because couples who had come out into the yard were stopping to glance curiously at them, Joanna laughed, the rippling laugh that might be bristling as well as musical, and said to him while he faced his own mask:

"You see, Roddy, the wall's clear down. I'm in the open, and I'm fighting fair!"

When they had disappeared across the club house veranda and through the doors which had been opened to them by the red-coated attendant, one of the two men who had sat at the wheel in their seats in the other car, descended. To the one who remained at the wheel this one said:

Back around between the red car and the gate, so you can get out first if there's a rush for the road at any time."

"It is getting tick and madd, Master," the one at the wheel grumbled, in the voice of Antoine. "In another ten minutes, we won't be able to use the wheels and all there'll be between us, and eternally, on the road down there, will be the brakes."

"Then your men will have less fear of being recognized, and so will you," the other retorted. "That pleases you, doesn't it?"

While Antoine muttered unthinkingly, Brandon threw his coat into the car and fixed his mask carefully.

He did not go at once into the house, but loitered on the veranda, smoking. When he had finished his cigarette he tapped on the door and was admitted. The orchestra was playing a fox trot in languid rhythm and the floor was thronged with couples whose moods the musicians knew as well how to interpret.

Brandon surveyed the dancers with searching glances. Then he looked among the tables. Suddenly his eyes found a slender figure in black, with gold brown hair, at a table half hidden behind the posted palms that shut off a corner of the balcony that overhung the dance floor. He appeared to be satisfied, then, and dropped in to a place at an unreserved table and ordered a liqueur.

CHAPTER XXXII
La Turbie

Even as Brandon watched the slim figure in black, from his table, the orchestra struck up a waltz, a slowly rhythmed, exotic melody that chanted like a song of passion. The figure in black rose. The man across from her whom Brandon had recognized, who had been at the wheel, was on his feet with a woman who had become careless breezed up to Brandon just then and boldly commanded him to take her onto the floor. He eyed her coolly and shook his head.

"I'll rather watch them," he said, and motioned to the vacant seat at his table in invitation to the unknown to sit out the number with him. The unknown declined. "I want to waltz," she said. "Any one will do—just so you, a more gallant knight will humor me. It's the only time I ever think when I waltz."

"An odd condition, that!" Brandon frowned. "Sounds so, doesn't it?" she returned. "I don't know. Women think while they waltz, all women do. It reminds them of foolish dreams they had when they were very young." With a flirt of her hand across his shoulders the unknown disappeared. A moment later he saw her, among the dancers, and saw that she was dancing shyly. And he saw, too, that Joanna, a striking figure in the colorful mass, danced stiffly; as if she, too, were thinking. He saw, too, that Kenilworth was holding her tightly.

When the music died in a plaintive bar, the dancers stood, expectant of the customary encore. The lights, which had dimmed, flared, however, and a roll of the orchestra drums announced an unreserved intermission. From the balcony falling a voice called, "Monseigneur et Madame!" All who were in the room glanced up, curiously, at the club house host, who stood at the rail, leaning forward over the dance floor. "It is desirable, my friends," the functionary called

had left down the road—owing into the yard. The lustre of the lamps flared suddenly bright and, for an instant, enveloped them in their mist-dimmed light.

Kenilworth's fingers lingered at their task of fixing the silver cord. His fingers quivered when the short, gold brown strands of hair slid among them. Joanna moved closer to him, and rested her hand lightly on his arm. When he let his fingers relax that the night breeze might blow her hair about them, he stared into her eyes and fancied that they had widened and that a circle of black had formed about the shimmering iris in each of them.

Then he caught her in a fevered clasp. She did not draw away, but reached up and drew down his head until she could frame his face with her two hands. Then she let him rest his lips on hers.

When he let her go because he dared hold her no longer, and because couples who had come out into the yard were stopping to glance curiously at them, Joanna laughed, the rippling laugh that might be bristling as well as musical, and said to him while he faced his own mask:

"You see, Roddy, the wall's clear down. I'm in the open, and I'm fighting fair!"

When they had disappeared across the club house veranda and through the doors which had been opened to them by the red-coated attendant, one of the two men who had sat at the wheel in their seats in the other car, descended. To the one who remained at the wheel this one said:

Back around between the red car and the gate, so you can get out first if there's a rush for the road at any time."

"It is getting tick and madd, Master," the one at the wheel grumbled, in the voice of Antoine. "In another ten minutes, we won't be able to use the wheels and all there'll be between us, and eternally, on the road down there, will be the brakes."

"Then your men will have less fear of being recognized, and so will you," the other retorted. "That pleases you, doesn't it?"

While Antoine muttered unthinkingly, Brandon threw his coat into the car and fixed his mask carefully.

He did not go at once into the house, but loitered on the veranda, smoking. When he had finished his cigarette he tapped on the door and was admitted. The orchestra was playing a fox trot in languid rhythm and the floor was thronged with couples whose moods the musicians knew as well how to interpret.

Brandon surveyed the dancers with searching glances. Then he looked among the tables. Suddenly his eyes found a slender figure in black, with gold brown hair, at a table half hidden behind the posted palms that shut off a corner of the balcony that overhung the dance floor. He appeared to be satisfied, then, and dropped in to a place at an unreserved table and ordered a liqueur.

CHAPTER XXXII
La Turbie

Even as Brandon watched the slim figure in black, from his table, the orchestra struck up a waltz, a slowly rhythmed, exotic melody that chanted like a song of passion. The figure in black rose. The man across from her whom Brandon had recognized, who had been at the wheel, was on his feet with a woman who had become careless breezed up to Brandon just then and boldly commanded him to take her onto the floor. He eyed her coolly and shook his head.

"I'll rather watch them," he said, and motioned to the vacant seat at his table in invitation to the unknown to sit out the number with him. The unknown declined. "I want to waltz," she said. "Any one will do—just so you, a more gallant knight will humor me. It's the only time I ever think when I waltz."

"An odd condition, that!" Brandon frowned. "Sounds so, doesn't it?" she returned. "I don't know. Women think while they waltz, all women do. It reminds them of foolish dreams they had when they were very young." With a flirt of her hand across his shoulders the unknown disappeared. A moment later he saw her, among the dancers, and saw that she was dancing shyly. And he saw, too, that Joanna, a striking figure in the colorful mass, danced stiffly; as if she, too, were thinking. He saw, too, that Kenilworth was holding her tightly.

When the music died in a plaintive bar, the dancers stood, expectant of the customary encore. The lights, which had dimmed, flared, however, and a roll of the orchestra drums announced an unreserved intermission. From the balcony falling a voice called, "Monseigneur et Madame!" All who were in the room glanced up, curiously, at the club house host, who stood at the rail, leaning forward over the dance floor. "It is desirable, my friends," the functionary called

had left down the road—owing into the yard. The lustre of the lamps flared suddenly bright and, for an instant, enveloped them in their mist-dimmed light.

Kenilworth's fingers lingered at their task of fixing the silver cord. His fingers quivered when the short, gold brown strands of hair slid among them. Joanna moved closer to him, and rested her hand lightly on his arm. When he let his fingers relax that the night breeze might blow her hair about them, he stared into her eyes and fancied that they had widened and that a circle of black had formed about the shimmering iris in each of them.

Then he caught her in a fevered clasp. She did not draw away, but reached up and drew down his head until she could frame his face with her two hands. Then she let him rest his lips on hers.

When he let her go because he dared hold her no longer, and because couples who had come out into the yard were stopping to glance curiously at them, Joanna laughed, the rippling laugh that might be bristling as well as musical, and said to him while he faced his own mask:

"You see, Roddy, the wall's clear down. I'm in the open, and I'm fighting fair!"

When they had disappeared across the club house veranda and through the doors which had been opened to them by the red-coated attendant, one of the two men who had sat at the wheel in their seats in the other car, descended. To the one who remained at the wheel this one said:

Back around between the red car and the gate, so you can get out first if there's a rush for the road at any time."

"It is getting tick and madd, Master," the one at the wheel grumbled, in the voice of Antoine. "In another ten minutes, we won't be able to use the wheels and all there'll be between us, and eternally, on the road down there, will be the brakes."

"Then your men will have less fear of being recognized, and so will you," the other retorted. "That pleases you, doesn't it?"

While Antoine muttered unthinkingly, Brandon threw his coat into the car and fixed his mask carefully.

He did not go at once into the house, but loitered on the veranda, smoking. When he had finished his cigarette he tapped on the door and was admitted. The orchestra was playing a fox trot in languid rhythm and the floor was thronged with couples whose moods the musicians knew as well how to interpret.

Brandon surveyed the dancers with searching glances. Then he looked among the tables. Suddenly his eyes found a slender figure in black, with gold brown hair, at a table half hidden behind the posted palms that shut off a corner of the balcony that overhung the dance floor. He appeared to be satisfied, then, and dropped in to a place at an unreserved table and ordered a liqueur.

CHAPTER XXXII
La Turbie

Even as Brandon watched the slim figure in black, from his table, the orchestra struck up a waltz, a slowly rhythmed, exotic melody that chanted like a song of passion. The figure in black rose. The man across from her whom Brandon had recognized, who had been at the wheel, was on his feet with a woman who had become careless breezed up to Brandon just then and boldly commanded him to take her onto the floor. He eyed her coolly and shook his head.

"I'll rather watch them," he said, and motioned to the vacant seat at his table in invitation to the unknown to sit out the number with him. The unknown declined. "I want to waltz," she said. "Any one will do—just so you, a more gallant knight will humor me. It's the only time I ever think when I waltz."

"An odd condition, that!" Brandon frowned. "Sounds so, doesn't it?" she returned. "I don't know. Women think while they waltz, all women do. It reminds them of foolish dreams they had when they were very young." With a flirt of her hand across his shoulders the unknown disappeared. A moment later he saw her, among the dancers, and saw that she was dancing shyly. And he saw, too, that Joanna, a striking figure in the colorful mass, danced stiffly; as if she, too, were thinking. He saw, too, that Kenilworth was holding her tightly.

When the music died in a plaintive bar, the dancers stood, expectant of the customary encore. The lights, which had dimmed, flared, however, and a roll of the orchestra drums announced an unreserved intermission. From the balcony falling a voice called, "Monseigneur et Madame!" All who were in the room glanced up, curiously, at the club house host, who stood at the rail, leaning forward over the dance floor. "It is desirable, my friends," the functionary called

had left down the road—owing into the yard. The lustre of the lamps flared suddenly bright and, for an instant, enveloped them in their mist-dimmed light.

Kenilworth's fingers lingered at their task of fixing the silver cord. His fingers quivered when the short, gold brown strands of hair slid among them. Joanna moved closer to him, and rested her hand lightly on his arm. When he let his fingers relax that the night breeze might blow her hair about them, he stared into her eyes and fancied that they had widened and that a circle of black had formed about the shimmering iris in each of them.

Then he caught her in a fevered clasp. She did not draw away, but reached up and drew down his head until she could frame his face with her two hands. Then she let him rest his lips on hers.

J. R. GRESHAM
INSURANCE

Confederation Life Association

White Star Steamship Lines

Bookkeeping Solicited

Collections

'Own Your Own Home'

Houses for Sale on

Rental Payments

Furnished Houses For Rent

Box 43 - Phone 131

Blairmore - Alberta

GILLIS & MACKENZIE

Barristers, Solicitors,

Notaries

Blairmore, Alberta

J. E. Gillis, B.A.

D. G. Mackenzie

K. G. CRAIG, L.L.B.

Barrister, Solicitor, Notary

— Phone 167 —

BLAIRMORE, ALBERTAE. V. ROBERTSON

Barrister at Law

401 Herald Building
CalgaryS. G. BANNAN

Barrister - Solicitor

BLAIRMORE

Phone 175

DENTISTRYR. K. Lillie, D.D.S., L.D.S.
Graduate N. U. D. S., Chicago

Hours:

Caleman—Morning 9 to 12
Blairmore—Afternoon 1 to 6
Evenings by appointment.

Phones:

Both Offices 32 — Residence 153

DENTISTRYH. B. Hoar, D.D.S.,
D.D.C., L.D.S.Graduate Royal College of Dental
Surgeons, Toronto.—At Bellevue Monday and Tuesday—
Office Phone 129 BlairmoreG. K. SIRETTPainter
Decorator
Paperhanger

Phone 16-c

BELLEVUE, ALBERTAJ. E. UPTONTAILOR TO THE PEOPLE OF THE CROWS' NEST PASS

Cleaning and Pressing

Opposite Greenhill Hotel

Phone 85 : Blairmore

SUBSCRIBE TODAY!

A new lodge of Elks is being organized at Okotoks.

Chickens feed is what you get back out of a "V" after feeding a chicken.

An assembly of the Native Sons of Canada was organized at Nanton last week.

The final proof of courtesy consists of drinking your host's liquor without asking for a chaser.

A wife in parts of Japan costs as much as fifteen dollars. Well, really most of them are worth that.

The number of times a car turns over seems to depend on the observer's previous experience as a liar.

A free country is one in which you have no boss, except the neighbor, friend wife, her people and your children.

At the annual meeting of the Lethbridge Old Timers' Association last week, Thomas McNab was again elected president.

One half of the liquor cases tried in Winnipeg the other day were against women. An exchange remarks: "That's suffrage for you!"

A son has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vewel, at Hanna. Mr. Vewel says it's a consonant and could very easily have been done without.

In pretty well all centres of the province, except the Crows' Nest Pass, gaming houses have been raided and stiff penalties meted out to proprietors and frequenters.

Little Miss Mildred Clements, of Pincher Creek, was in town last week to attend the ninth birthday of Miss Jean Upton, and spent several days following.

A woman, giving her name as Mrs. Behneman and hailing from Blairmore, was fined $25 and costs in a Fernie court last week for being drunk. The name is not known here.

An Anglican preacher by the name of Lord was recently ordained and placed in charge of the new Indian school at Brockett. With the Lord's help, the school and mission should be a success.

The Fernie Rod and Gun Club will make a strong recommendation for the rescind of the buck law on deer for the coming season. They will also endeavor to have Hungarian partridge introduced in the Fernie district.

Mabel McNeive, spinster, of Calgary, is suing the Alberta Liquor Control Board for damages in the sum of $50,000, alleged to have resulted from false and malicious speaking of her in the presence of witnesses, causing her mental anguish.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Mrs. Berry (nee Miss Gussie Edwards), who has been attending 'Variety at Columbia, Missouri, has returned to Alberta for an extended visit with her parents here.

There were ten tables at play at the whist drive held here on Wednesday night. The prize winners were: Ladies' first, Mrs. C. Latan; second, Mrs. James R. Irwin; consolation, Mrs. George Porter. Gents' first, Willie McKay; second, Dick Alexander; consolation, James Gerry.

Monday, March 28th, while T. M. Smith and R. Williams were at the Hodgson ranch for the purpose of moving some effects to the home ranch, Tom Smith took a rifle and left the house, with the remark that he was going to try the gun out. Williams heard a shot and Smith not returning within a reasonable time, he started in search of him, finding him in a dying condition in one of the outbuildings, shot through the head. Smith died within an hour, without gaining consciousness. He is survived by one brother, Duart Smith, of Lundbreck, and a sister, Joan, of Ottawa. Interment took place at the Livingstone cemetery yesterday afternoon. Tom Smith was a partner in the well known firm of Gerry & Smith, ranchers and cattle dealers.

Local and General Items

Halifax had a $350,000 fire on Monday morning.

A New York man has given $100,000 to help forest conservation.

Dandelions were being picked in the neighborhood of Bellevue this week.

Nowadays it's easy to tell the head of the house. It's either bobbed or shingled.

Misses Lillie and Irene Bouthillier left here last week for Portland, Oregon, where they will spend a few months.

Mr. Mellett, of High River, representing 'one of the largest Canadian novelty firms, was in Blairmore on Friday last.

Thank goodness, the appearance of Spring will tend to rid us of the unsightly galoshes as worn by the present-day flappers.

Two carloads of new autos, Chevrolet, Studebakers, etc., were unloaded here for the Crows' Nest Pass Motors on Monday.

Passion week will be observed at the United church, with services each night, as well as a service on Good Friday at 11 a.m.

The Bellevue Curling Club will hold their fourth annual banquet at the Bellevue Inn tonight, at 9 o'clock. It's to be a stag party, of course.

The Prince of Wales will be the guest of King Alphonse and Queen Victoria of Spain this Easter, spending a fortnight at Seville and Madrid.

A meeting of the Blairmore Golf Club will be held in the Greenhill hotel on Friday, April 1st, at 8 p.m. All members and others interested are requested to attend.

C. J. Tompkins was in Calgary the early part of the week, attending a two-day conference of Southern Alberta representatives of the Sun Life Assurance Company.

The marriage took place at Bellevue on March 23rd, of Miss Esther Christie, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Christie, to John Royston Talbot, of Iron Spring, Alberta. Rev. J. W. Oliver performed the ceremony.

A hard times dance is to be given in the Moose Hall tomorrow night, under the auspices of Blairmore Lodge No. 105, L.O.O.M. Mrs. Altermatt's orchestra will furnish music.

Tony Pondelice, senior, was admitted to the local hospital last week, suffering from blood poison in the foot. On Saturday it became necessary to operate and the foot was amputated slightly above the ankle.

Mrs. T. B. George, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. J. Zerny, and Mrs. Frank Pilchak, Coalhurst, for the past six weeks, left for her home in Great Falls, Montana.—Lethbridge Herald.

A Scotchman was recently arrested in New York for attempted golf in Central Park. It is supposed that he was trying to find a place to hide his golf clubs without tipping a attendant.

It pays to advertise: Last week a Frank resident lost a pocket book and asked us to post a notice in our window, offering a reward for its recovery. We arranged the notice and as we were about to hang same in our window, the owner phoned to advise that the purse had been returned to him.

Local people are curious to know what on earth Count Valentino Rinaldi is trying to pull off. Looks like matrimony ahead for Val. He has been busy re-arranging the furniture in a cottage down the South Fork country, for the past week, and is practicing what he has learnt through a correspondence course in cooking. A bevy of old maids paid him a visit on Sunday last, but honest-to-goodness, none of them are thinking even yet of forsaking single blessedness.

You can generally tell what a man is by what his wife looks like.

If Eve came back today, she would not feel so much embarrassed.

The Manitoba provincial election will take place on June the 22nd.

A wedding of very great interest to Pellevue and Coleman is to take place shortly.

Trade at home until 1940, and the rest of the century will take care of itself.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Morgan, of Saunders, are spending a couple of weeks in Blairmore.

Some people will often give three cheers for something they wouldn't give anything else for.

The Nova Scotia gasoline has increased the tax on gasoline from three to five cents a gallon.

An exchange remarks: "Roses are always in bloom in Florida." Yes, and the palms are always outstretched.

Several stores, including that of Mrs. K. Sargent, were destroyed by fire at Etzikom at an early hour on Friday morning.

The big auction sale advertised to take place in Calgary next week promises to be the biggest bull-peddling affair in Calgary's history.

Following the regular meeting of Livingstone Lodge, Knights of Pythias, on Friday night last, the members entertained the Pythian Sisters to a luncheon at the Chardon Cafe.

The ten-year-old son of Frank Celli is occasionally entertaining the patrons of the Electric Theatre on the piano, at which instrument he is a natural adept.—High River Times.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Atkinson, of Hillcrest, announce the engagement of their only daughter, Bessie, to Mr. R. H. Portier, of Hillcrest, the marriage to take place in the near future.

Joe You, the genial and popular chef at the Chardon Cafe, yesterday received word from his son, who is now located in the war-free part of China, where he hopes to engage in business on his own.

One of the main items on the 1927 Crows' Nest Pass Musical Festival programme will be a new quartette—Messrs. Harry Griesbach, C. J. Tompkins, W. J. Bartlett and Mark Sartoris.

High River theatregoers were on Tuesday night treated to a delightful comedy, entitled "Are You An Elk?" staged by the Nanton Elks' dramatic troupe. What about bringing them to Blairmore?

An exchange remarks: "Canada has one golf course for every 19,293 inhabitants; in the United States there is one for every 25,793 persons. Yes, and strange to say, one language suffices for all.

While rumor has it that the Enid Kootenay Power Co. are considering raising the rate for electric current in this district, the Calgary Power Company offers the city of Lethbridge a rate of .85 cents per k.w.h.

The last of the season's series of whist drives to be staged by the local Order of Eastern Star, will be held in the Lodge Hall on Wednesday night next, April the 6th, commencing at 8 o'clock sharp. Everybody welcome and should turn out to make this the best of the season.

A total of 72 fairs will be held in Alberta this year, of which two, Calgary and Edmonton, are in class A, five in class B, and sixty-five in class C. The dates of the Calgary exhibition this year are July 11th to 16th, and the Edmonton exhibition, July 18 to 23. A feature of the Edmonton exhibition will be another historical pageant, commemorating the diamond jubilee of the Dominion.

A black gopher has been captured near Macleod.

Tomorrow is 'All Pools' Day. Be sure to get your share of it.

Major W. B. Burnett was up from Lethbridge on a brief visit on Monday.

Henry Ford drove his own ancient limousine over an embankment and is now a patient in hospital.

The Chicago Daily News remarks: A few women do interior decorating. All do more or less exterior.

The city of Trail, B.C., is inviting tenders for the laying of 27,000 square feet of concrete pavement.

The monthly meeting of the Blairmore Board of School Trustees takes place tomorrow night.

About seventy-five dealers and salesmen of Pontiac and McLaughlin-Buick motor cars will meet in Calgary tomorrow.

All but ten or twelve of some eight hundred miners entombed by explosions in Illinois and Pennsylvania yesterday have been rescued alive.

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association, with over 700 delegates, will hold its annual convention in the west this year, meeting at Calgary in June.

Tourists coming to Alberta by car may now stay sixty days under permit, instead of thirty days, an amendment to the regulation in this respect having been made at Ottawa.

Major Segrave, an Englishman, attained the world's speed record at Daytona Beach on Tuesday, in his famous 'mystery' car, when he reached a speed of 207.015 miles an hour.

Seven acres of harbor land at Toronto was sold by the Toronto harbor commission to the Canada Steamship Lines Co. for a consideration of one million dollars.

The store recently vacated by Scott's Grocery is being renovated for the Blairmore Grocery, John Kubik, proprietor. A E. Blais has the decorating job in hand.

A dance, in aid of the relief fund of the Cowley branch of the British Empire Service League, will be held in Tustian's hall at Cowley on the night of Friday, April the 8th.

At the annual meeting of the C.A. H.A. in Vancouver on Monday, Dr. F. E. Sandereck of Calgary, was re-elected president. The Allen Cup surplus for the year was reported as $11,519.

Ten per cent of the people who bought motor cars in America on the hire-purchase system during 1926 have had to return their cars because they could not keep up the instalments.

The church concert staged at the Hillcrest theatre last night, by Bellevue and Hillcrest artists, was well attended and a success in every particular. The concert is to be repeated at the Rex Theatre, Bellevue, on Tuesday night next.

Sixteen charges for failure to take out auto licences were heard in a Calgary court on Tuesday. No fines were imposed, but warnings were given and the parties required to pay costs.

Mr. Crawford, mine inspector for the Camrose district, is in Blairmore for a few days. Mr. Crawford formerly resided here, leaving for the Drumheller district about twelve years ago, and his many friends here are glad to meet him.

The Ladies' Aid of the United church are busy preparing for their annual bazaar, which is to be held in the Moose Hall on the afternoon of April 14th. Stalls of fancy work, candy, etc., will be in operation. Tea will also be served form 3 to 6.

The Very Rev. Edward Clarence Paget, for more than a quarter of a century dean of the Anglican parish of Calgary, and following the resignation of Bishop Pinkham, the administrator of the diocese, died at Calgary on Sunday morning at the age of 75 years.

For Sale, For Rent, Etc.FOR SALE OR RENT—Large substantial building, corner Sixth Ave. and State St., suitable for garage. Apply to K. G. CRAIG. (mb31)WANTED—To hear from owner Ranch for sale, each price, particularly D. F. Bush, Minneapolis, Minn.For Funeral Flowers, phone 212Crows' Nest Pass Undertaking Co.

For Stove and Furnace Coal, try ours, mined at the Sunburst Coal Mine, Blairmore (mb207)

LODGE DIRECTORYBlairmore Lodge No. 68,I. O. O. F.
Meets every First and Third Tuesdays at 8 p.m. in the Oddfellows' Hall. Officers for the ensuing term: E. McEwen, N.G.; W. Oliver, V.G.; J. B. Harmer, Secretary, Box 243.Crowview Rebekah LodgeNo. 66, I. O. O. F.
Meets the first and third Thursdays of the month at 8 p.m. Officers for the ensuing term: N.G., Sis. M. McKay; V.G., Sis. H. Patterson; Rec. Sec., Sis. B. Howe.Livingstone Lodge No. 22,

Meets in the Castle Hall on the second and fourth Fridays of the month at 8 p.m. Visitors are always welcome. Officers: C.C., T. J. Williams; K. of R. S. B. Samsier.

Blairmore Lodge No. 15I. O. O. F.
Meets in the Elk Hall the 2nd and 4th Tuesdays of each month at 8 p.m. Visitors are welcome. R. W. H. Pinkney, Exalted Ruler; J. R. McLeod, Secretary, Box 2033, Blairmore.

The Fernie school board is more or less worried by the number of repeaters in the advanced grades of the public and high schools. This is largely attributed to the children who are allowed to attend whist drives, picture shows, dances, etc., and parents are being circualrized, urging that as far as possible their children be kept away from such late-hour entertainments, and be given an opportunity to study.

ED. ROYLESolo Euphonium
Oldham Rifles Prize Band, England

Solo Horn

82nd Battalion Band (Overseas)

TEACHERof the
Saxophone and Trombone

Blairmore, Alberta

As mentioned by us a couple of weeks ago the local branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., will stage a two-day programme of field sports, etc., here on July 1st and 2nd, which, coupled with the Elks' Annual Carnival, will ensure the biggest days in Blairmore's history. Part of the programme will consist of the annual mine rescue and first aid competitions, in which the entire mining districts of Alberta and Southeastern British Columbia will be interested. Bills giving full particulars will be out in a few days.

EAT BREAD IN THE MORNING

Two or three slices of Bread plain or toasted at breakfast time is equal to double the amount of other food because it is more nourishing.

Bread is your Best Food—Eat more of it.

Start the day right with several substantial slices of Bread—the bread that satisfies.

You will like the flavor of

MOTHER'S BREAD
"The Bread That Builds"Bellevue Bakery

Phone 74-6 — BELLEVUE